

MAZDAZNAN AGAIN

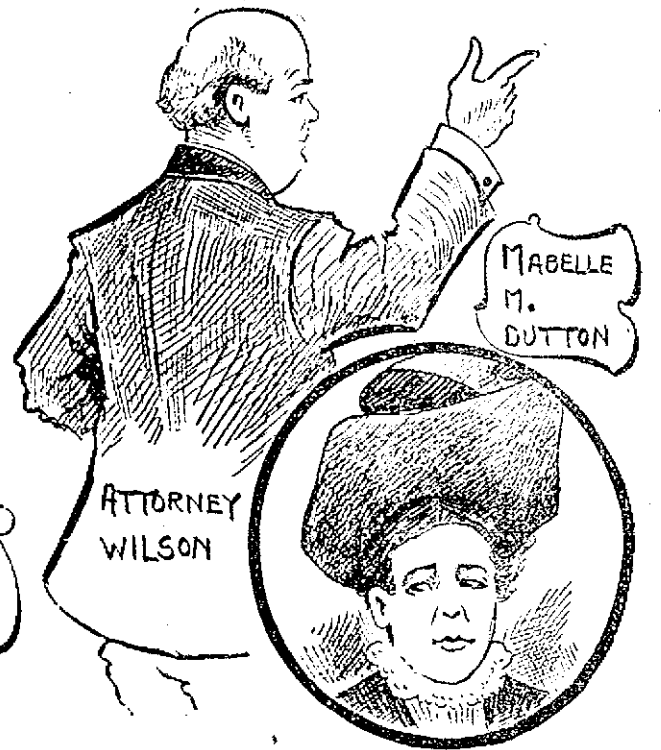

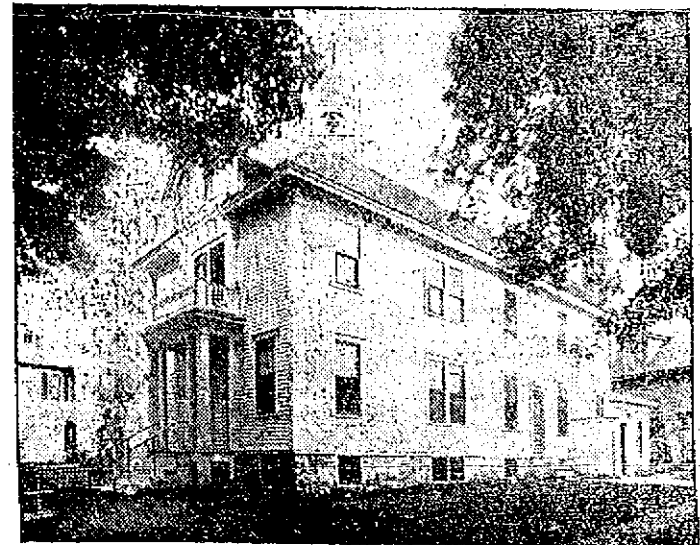

Lawyer Kittredge Says Cult
Should be Suppressed

It was an awful ordeal which Mrs. Ellen M. Shaw passed through today in the probate court at Cambridge in listening to the scathing argument of Lawyer Kittredge, counsel for the petitioners, that a conservator be appointed for Mrs. Shaw. It was an ordeal mingled with bitterness and pathos.

Looking her face to face Mr. Kittredge spoke of the visions and pulsations that were given voice to by witnesses during the six days of the trial and then he made particular mention and laid particular stress upon the vision that brought back from the spirit world, from the angels and from the holy of holies, the form, face, voice and features of her husband, telling her he was sorry that he had disappeared from the Mazdaznans when on earth and that he had come back to atone and to advise her, and consult her to spend her money just as she was spending it, to sell her property and give everything over to the Mazdaznans. During the relation of this vision by Mr. Kittredge Mrs. Shaw broke down and wept. He started his argument at 9:30 o'clock and began by characterizing Lawyer Wilson's long argument of yesterday as a most extraordinary presentation of the case. He said it was inconsistent, a plea to the gallery, violent to witnesses and intended to impeach them. He said that from the book of "Inner Studies" Mr. Wilson had taken passages to suit himself. He said that "Inner Studies" was a crude medical treatise of an obscene character. He said that the book should be condemned and destroyed by the Society for the Prevention of Vice. He said that it was too bad that this poor woman at the age of 66 years should find herself a victim of a grafting, insincere, unnatural, vulgar and indecent cult.

He criticized Mr. Wilson for likening the sufferings of Mrs. Shaw to those of Jesus Christ, Socrates, Martin Luther and the Pilgrim Fathers and as to Mr. Wilson's comparisons of temples and altars Mr. Kittredge said "This temple in Lowell is dedicated to the sale of patent medicines and obscene literature like 'Inner Studies'." Mr. Kittredge upon reaching the body of his argument reviewed all the visions, and all of the delusions attributed to Mrs. Shaw and said that they could point to nothing else but impaired thought. He said that this petition was not one to prove insanity. It simply sought to show that the respondent, because of mental incapacity in account of age was incapable of caring for her property and that there was great danger that her property would be turned over to the hands of the grafters, the Mazdaznans.

TAYLOR MISSING

Is Supposed to be Victim of
"Night Riders"

UNION CITY, Tenn., Oct. 21.—Although searching parties continued their efforts until a late hour last night no trace has yet been found of Col. Taylor, a supposed victim of "night riders."

Col. Taylor when last seen was dashing through the bayou at the scene of the murder of his companion, Captain Quentin Rankin, being before a volley fired from a hundred guns. He made no outcry. His tracks were found leading down to the bayou and up from the other side and no trace of blood was apparent anywhere.

This morning the search for the missing man was resumed. Last night extreme excitement prevailed and the result of the continued search is problematical.

Nothing can be learned as to the identity of the men who composed the band. It is believed, however, that they were "squatters" living along the shores of Reel Foot lake and that the action is the culmination of a controversy of years' standing as to the rights of the "squatters" to fish in the stream which was the property of the West Tennessee Land company, and of which Captain Rankin and Col. Taylor were the organizers.

The two men were here to go over the land with J. F. Carpenter, an attorney of Union city who contemplated a purchase of a portion of the land. That he escaped a fate similar to the others of his party is due to the fact that he was spending the night at the home of a relative, the mob searching the hotel at Walnut lodge for a third party, presumably Carpenter, without success.

A farmer named Powell who declares he was aroused from his home and compelled to accompany the men gives the most authentic story of the tragedy. He declares he was taken from his home to the hotel and ordered to awaken the proprietor and guests under threat of death. The men sought were secured. Powell was left under guard of part of the band and Captain Rankin and Col. Taylor were taken some distance further where a parley was held. Evidently no agreement was reached for, according to Powell, the mob placed a rope around Rankin's neck and drew him from the ground until only his toes touched the ground. He was then beaten into insensibility, his body drawn up and a volley fired into his body.

A second parley followed during which Taylor attempted to escape. Several volleys were fired, presumably at the retreating man but with what result is not known. The band then returned to Powell and declared that both men were dead and ordered him to return to his home.

while employed by the defendant as a carpenter upon a brick building in process of construction in Robeson street, being erected by the Appleton Co. and working under one Coram who was foreman for the defendant. Coram was injured as a result of being struck by a heavy timber.

The defendant is $5000. Emory Lamore, the plaintiff, was the first witness called. He testified that on the 13th of June of last year he was in the employ of Contractor Nelson and was at work on a building in the course of construction in Jackson street, the property of the Appleton company. Shortly after noon on the day in question he was assisting in the placing in position of a 25 foot floor beam. Oscar Coram was acting as foreman. He giving the various orders to the men. Witness was at work on the third floor of the building.

At this point a model of the floor and brick wall of the building and a model of a derrick used on the floor were introduced and witness explained the different models in detail. Continuing with his testimony witness said: "We had raised a single mast derrick on the third floor and secured it with two guys. The heavy floor beam was then attached to the derrick chain and hoisted in the air. While the beam was suspended in the air a column was placed in position, after which I placed a cast iron cap on top of the column and held the cap in position until the beam was lowered and one end rested on the column and the other on the brick wall."

It was found that the beam was resting too far over the column and Mr. Coram gave no orders to get up on a wooden horse, which was about eight feet high, and hold the cap on the column until the beam was pushed over a little farther on the wall.

"While holding the cap in position an order was given to slacken up on the derrick rope and when that order was carried out the beam swung over and striking me on the shoulder, knocked me off the horse and I struck on the floor. The column and cap also fell, the cap striking within two inches of my head."

As a result of the fall Lamore injured his ankle and was unable to work for a period of 14 weeks. Cross-examined by Lawyer Dunbar, witness said that he had worked for Mr. Nelson for six or seven years; that Mr. Nelson did a great deal of mill construction, and that he (Lamore) had had some experience in the work especially that of the placing of beams and columns.

Verdict For Defendant

The jury in the case of Stephen McHugh against the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. reported a verdict in favor of the defendant corporation immediately this morning. In this case the plaintiff declared that he boarded a car of the defendant company in Westbury, and was given a transfer. He left the car at Wamest and transferred his transfer to a conductor on a car of the defendant company which was bound for Merrimack square. The conductor accepted the transfer, but later asked for another fare, and when the plaintiff refused to pay the fare, he was ejected from the car.

Jury Disagreed

The jury in the cases of John B. and Christopher P. Kelley, n. p. a. to recover $500 on a policy on the life of Margaret Kelley, wife and mother of the plaintiffs, from the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, reported a disagreement.

LINCOLN FUND

Nearly Entire Sum Has Been Raised

At the board of trade rooms yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock there was a meeting of the Lincoln memorial fund committee. The chairman reported that words of encouragement had been received from all parts of Lowell and that there is in sight within $300 of the amount required for the erection of the memorial which will be dedicated on the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's birth, Feb. 12, 1909.

A committee, with Harvey S. Greene, as chairman, is already arranging for speakers and preparing a program of exercises to be a feature of the memorial exercises. Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase has placed in the board of trade rooms a magnificent portrait of Lincoln which will be presented to the pupil of any Lowell school who disposes of the most post cards by sale, containing a portrait of the Lincoln monument which is to grace Lincoln park, Lincoln square, at the junction of Chelmsford, Liberty, Lincoln and Hale streets. Already a friendly rivalry has begun between pupils of the various Lowell schools for ownership of the Lincoln portrait already alluded to.

FOUR LIVES LOST

Steamer New York Burned to the Water's Edge

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The beautiful steamer New York of the Hudson river day line was burned to the water's edge and four negro waiters lost their lives this morning at Marvel's ship yard in this city, where she had been tied up for overhauling. The dead are: ISAAC JENKINS, JAMES JONES, ALEX. BRAX, JOSEPH MATTHEWS.

They are southern negroes. The charred bodies of the victims were found this morning below decks in the men's sleeping quarters. The fire was exceptionally spectacular, starting soon after midnight in the after part of the boat; it was soon found to be beyond the control of the Newburgh fire department, and as the flames spread throughout the whole great fabric of the superstructure the sky was lit for miles in all directions. The boat was tied up for repairs, there was no steam in the boilers and therefore the boat's own pumps were useless.

The ship, which cost above half a million, is an utter loss. She was built in 1907 by Harlan and Hollingsworth and has been one of the fastest and most potential passenger vessels in the Hudson river service. She carried a crew of 72, and was commanded by Captain Arthur H. Hunsont. The New York had a gross tonnage of 1874. She was 235 feet in length, had a beam width of 34 feet and drew 16 feet. Her engines had a capacity of 250 horse-power. Since the end of the day last season the steamer New York has been moored at the shipyard. Soon after daylight the fire was discovered off. The New York firemen were unable to stay the flames which soon swept the steamer from bow to stern. The burning steamer rolled and pitched, which could be seen for miles to and down the river. When the New York was towed on Tuesday her boilers were found to be empty for inspection. There was no steam in the boiler when the fire broke out and the steamer's pumps were useless. Had the pumps been in use the fire might have been extinguished with little loss. The fire was first discovered by Charles Webster, a waiter, there were five colored men asleep at the time. Webster, at once began to awaken them. In their great alarm the men fled from the burning steamer, and the steamer burned. The colored men had been paid on Tuesday, and they lost their clothing and most of their money, some as much as $30 each. Four of the colored men on the steamer are missing and it is thought that they perished in the flames. One of the victims is Joseph Matthews, the second pantryman. Matthews when fleeing with his companions learned that some of them had been left behind. He insisted on returning to rescue them. Rushing through the flames and smoke he disappeared from view and never returned.

Some citizens who had ventured aboard were almost burned in by the fire and barely escaped with their lives. The wind blew hard in the early morning, but blew off shore and carried the flames out over the river away from the shipyard buildings. A large lying near the steamer caught fire and floated out in the stream, a charred hulk. At various times during the morning the flames communicated to the shipyard, but were kept down by the firemen. Every part of the vessel that was combustible was destroyed and nothing is left this morning of the beautiful river steamer. The charred hulk with a mass of twisted steel and iron work. This morning the charred hulk of the four victims of the fire were found below decks in the men's sleeping quarters. The fire broke out in the after part of the boat. The fire was discovered off. The New York firemen were unable to stay the flames which soon swept the steamer from bow to stern. The burning steamer rolled and pitched, which could be seen for miles to and down the river. IMPORTANT RULING

Made by the Supreme Court in a Medical Case

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in overruling the defendant's exceptions in the case of the commonwealth vs. W. E. Ellsworth Jewelle, convicted and fined $150 for practicing medicine without a license, holds there are more ways than one of practicing medicine and that it is not necessary in the practice that one must give or prescribe medicine.

The defendant sought to justify what he had done by the statute which permits a person to be a mind cure healer, a massage healer or an osteopath.

The government's evidence tended to show that on different occasions the defendant had prescribed medicines and administered and advertised that he prescribed as a part of his treatment what he called "vitalizer"; that he had been in the habit of giving what are called electric or ray baths; and that in giving what was called the stomach wash, another substance other than water was given the patient. It also, it was contended, diagnosed his patients for the purpose of seeing what ailed them and prescribed treatment for them.

It also sought to have the trial judge instruct the jury to the effect of saying it was the law that practitioners of mind healing, massage and osteopathy can practice their healing "so long as they did not prescribe or deal out medicine."

The quoted portion of the request of the trial judge refused to give the jury. The full bench holds Judge Crosby, the presiding judge at the trial was right in this. It says:

"The defendant's request implied that one could not practice medicine within the meaning of the words of sec. 5, chap. 72A of the revised laws without prescribing or dealing out medicine; that is, prescribing or dealing out a substance used as a remedy for disease. It would be too narrow a view of the practice of medicine to say that it could not be engaged in in any case or class of cases otherwise than by prescribing or dealing out a substance to be used as a remedy.

"The science or medicine includes a knowledge not only of the functions of the organs of the human body, but also of the diseases to which these organs are subject, and of the laws of health and the modes of living which tend to avert or overcome disease, as well as the specific methods of treatment that are most effective in promoting cures.

"It is conceivable that one may practice medicine to some extent, in certain classes of cases, without dealing out or prescribing drugs or other substances to be used as medicine. It is conceivable that one may do it in other ways than those practiced as a part of their respective stations by either osteopaths, pharmacists, chiropractors or persons practicing leprosy, magnetic healing, mind cure, massage, cup, science, or the common method of healing."

"The purpose of the statute seems to be to permit the practice of these several methods of treatment, including everything that strictly belongs to each, but not to permit the unlicensed practice of medicine otherwise. It is practice of medicine otherwise, without dealing out or prescribing drugs or other substances, to be used as medicines, is possible, the ruling and refusal to rule were right. We think such a practice of medicine is possible."

"There is much to indicate that the defendant not only practiced medicine in other ways, but that he dealt out substances to be used as medicines, which did not apply to the practice of osteopathy, mind cure or massage."

EXTENSIVE FIRES EVENT OBSERVED

Raging in the Vicinity of Berlin

BERLIN, N. H., Oct. 21.—Although extensive forest fires were raging to the east and west of Berlin today it will be generally believed that all danger to houses in the city had been eliminated. On both sides of the river the fire was working away from the city but was not under control nor was it expected to be brought under control until a heavy rainfall had drenched the parched and tinder-like forests.

To the westward of Berlin, Mount Forest was covered in flame and smoke. The fire in this vicinity had covered an extensive area but had not done extensive damage inasmuch as most of the territory burned over did contain a heavy growth of timber. The fire was spreading along the Ammonoosuc valley towards West Milan and scores of hunters were driven from the woods by the smoke.

Towards the east and southeast the fire was advancing rapidly, and during the night crossed the Maine State boundary line. The town of Shelburne was threatened with destruction and reports from there early today indicated that many of the residents of that place were moving away on account of the fire danger. This fire has destroyed many thousands of dollars' worth of valuable timber. J. K. Aston of New York, a prominent lumber dealer, is among the heaviest individual losers in this territory, while many Berlin business men have had all of their standing timber wiped out by the flames.

Conditions in Berlin were improved today. Although the city was enveloped in smoke last night a slight breeze this morning purified the atmosphere and cleared the air so that the range of vision was more extensive than for many days.

TO COACHMAN

MANCHESTER WOMAN LEFT SUM OF $10,500

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Mary A. Simons, who died Oct. 5, aged 45, left $10,500 to her coachman, Alvin K. Wright, and $10,000 to her housekeeper, Annie C. Butterfield, both old servants.

Two sisters, Mrs. Olive Merrill and Miss Helen Chase of this city, are practically cut off by the will.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Gen. April of Manchester and Miss Josephine Labrie of this city were married Monday at St. Louis church, by Rev. Fr. Trudel, O. M. I. The witnesses were Messrs. Prosper Lambert and Arthur Morel. In the evening a reception took place at the home of Mr. Merceur, 23 Fairmount road. The Harbach orchestra gave a concert, and a luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. April, who have received many costly gifts, will live in Manchester.

QUINLAN-BAILEY

The marriage of Mr. William H. Quinlan, the popular street railway conductor, and Miss Blanche A. Bailey took place last evening from the immaculate reception church, Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ida Bailey, and the best man was Mr. John J. Quinlan, brother of the groom. The bride was becomingly attired in a white silk Princess gown with chiffon, while the bridegroom wore pink tulle. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 28 Stanley street, many relatives and friends tendering their congratulations. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts. They departed on a late train for their honeymoon, which will be enjoyed in New York, and upon their return they will reside in Belvidere.

Author of "America" Born 100 Years Ago

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The 100th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Dr. Samuel Smith, author of "America," was celebrated today in Boston, where he was born, and in Newton, where he made his home for more than fifty years. In Newton flags were displayed at half-staff throughout the city, and in all the public schools memorial exercises were held at which the story of the writing of the national hymn was retold at the convention. At the First Baptist church in Newton Centre, of which Dr. Smith was pastor for twelve years, the hymns which were given to the church as a memorial of Dr. Smith played "America," and in the chapel there will be an informal memorial observance this evening.

In Boston the principal public celebration was the playing of the national hymn by cornets standing in the belfry, facing Boston common, of the Park Street church, in which edifice "America" was publicly sung for the first time on July 4, 1832.

ADMIRAL TOGO

And Children Sang Welcome to Our Fleet

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 21.—Japan's welcome to Admiral Sperry and his men surpassed in enthusiasm the celebration in honor of Admiral Togo when his fleet returned from the victory over the Russian ships in the sea of Japan. When Admiral Sperry and the division admiral went from Yokohama to Tokyo in a special train there was a continual greeting long the entire 15 miles. Each village school turned out in force, the children lining the track as the train sped by, every pupil waving two flags, an American banner and the emblem of their native land. The trip was one long procession through a lane of waving flags. At Tokyo the train was met by a committee composed of representatives of every department of the government and headed by Admiral Togo. After the exchange of formal greetings on the station platform a procession was formed, and when the band struck up "America" 10,000 children, massed in a chorus which packed the entire approach to the station, sang the words of the hymn in English. The vessel shown in this picture is the flagship Connecticut under full steam.

SOME BIG GAMES

Scheduled for the Golf Tournament Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A series of interesting events were scheduled in today's program in the women's national golf championship at Chevy Chase Golf club. The principal interest centers in the competition between the sixteen survivors of yesterday's game in the second match today. Six survivors are from Boston, three from Philadelphia two from Washington and the other five are scattered. Today's pairings in the second round match are as follows:

Mrs. E. T. Perkins, Glenview club, Chicago, vs. Mrs. Grimsby McCannan, Chevy Chase club; Mrs. Grison, Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia, vs. Miss Oliver, Chevy Chase club; Mrs. H. St. John Smith, Portland Country club, vs. Mrs. Pohlman, Richmond Golf club; Miss Bishop, Brooklawn club, Bridgeport, Conn., vs. Mrs. Margery W. Phelps, Country club, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. Fox, Huntingdon Valley club, vs. Miss Harriet Curtis, Essex Country club, Manchester, Mass.; Miss Adams, Westlawn club, vs. Miss Harby, Fall River Golf club; and Miss Margaret Curtis, Country club, Brookline, vs. Mrs. Barlow, Merion Cricket club.

In addition to the champion events there will be a consolation contest for the sixteen players defeated in the first championship round. The pairings are as follows:

Mrs. Mary McCain, Chevy Chase, vs. Mrs. Dorothy Robinson, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Anita Phelps, Springfield, vs. Miss Ellen Watertown, Spring Field, Brookline, vs. Mrs. William West, Philadelphia; Miss Katherine Townsend, Philadelphia, vs. Mrs. Converse, West Newton; Miss H. Nichols, Brookline, vs. Mrs. Kinney, Hingham; Mrs. Work, Philadelphia, vs. Miss Porter, Hingham.

In addition to this contest an eighteen hole contest against bogey was on the program for today.

THE CHIMES RANG

In Memory of Author of "America"

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee, I sing!"

Sweetly the bells of old St. Anne's pealed forth the familiar strains of the good, old patriotic hymn just at noon today and everyone in Merrimack street paused on his or her way and after listening to the bells a moment went along unconsciously humming the refrain.

The church doors were closed and there was nothing to indicate the cause of the unexpected noonday musical treat.

But it took only a moment to recall the fact that one hundred years ago today the author of that immortal anthem, Rev. S. F. Smith, a Baptist minister and one of New England's most prominent clergymen of his time, was born.

The author has long since passed away, but his song will remain ever dear to the American heart and the children of the future will echo its sweet refrain long after the children of today have passed on.

FUNERALS

MORGAN.—The funeral of the late George F. Morgan took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from his home, 370 Lincoln street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated. Rev. Fr. Fleicher, O. M. I., officiating. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon, sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered. At the conclusion the choir sang "De Profundis." Mrs. Muldoon at this organ. Among the many beautiful floral tributes were: a large pillow inscribed "Our George" from parents; crosses on base, Miss Anna Coburn; wreath on base, Mr. Finnerty; wreath, Bon Marche C. and D. departments; wreath, Cornelius Sullivan; wreath, Mrs. Laurie and Roy; sprays, Mrs. Anna Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Burns, John and Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Dwyer and family; the Boylo family, the Misses Madden, Margaret Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. Coburn, Mr. Morris, Mr. Lear and family, Mrs. Adams, Mr. Lowney, Jeremiah Sullivan, Nashua, N. SOCIALLY—CHARMING, TOO.

Much interest is manifested by the fair sex in anything that tends to add charm and attractiveness to the human form divine. There was recently published the formula of a famous beauty doctor who became wealthy by the profession of figure culture. Many of our famous actresses and society ladies claim to owe to her science the charming and exquisite proportion of figure which they enjoy. Many so-called patent developers have proven worthless, but if we are to judge from results obtained by several in this city, the following prescription really deserves the title "friend to the unattractive and undeveloped."

So rapid and thorough is the treatment that one can almost "see the flesh grow." One young matron had, after a month's absence, during which she had used the home treatment, an increase of six inches in bust measurement. The treatment differs from all others and can readily be prepared at home.

Go to any druggist and get separately, two ounces of glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture cadomex compound, and five cents' worth of borax. Mix the glycerine and tincture cadomex, shake well, and let stand two hours. Then add rosewater and a teaspoonful of borax. Apply morning and night, rubbing until absorbed; then wash with hot water and soap and dry. Continue a few weeks and beautiful development rewards the effort.

BIG DEMONSTRATION

Bryan's Tour Through Indiana Was a Most Notable One

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—The tour yesterday of Wm. J. Bryan through Indiana was a notable one. Accompanied though he is to large crowds and lusty cheers, the demonstrations accorded him yesterday were commented on by the candidate as being exceedingly gratifying. A pleasing feature of the trip was the repeated calls for Mrs. Bryan, which shared in the handshaking with her husband. She was overwhelmed with attention at every place where a stop was made, and was the recipient of many floral pieces.

The democratic candidate, although he had but six hours sleep, appeared fresh and strong when he delivered the first of 16 speeches of the day at Hammond, Ind., at 7:30 o'clock. His voice was in splendid shape and he commanded the attention of his many audiences. His favorite theme yesterday were the planks of the democratic platform relating to labor, the guaranty of bank deposits and the publicity of campaign contributions, and he frequently aroused his auditors to a high pitch of enthusiasm. He appealed for support of the democratic party on the ground that it was nearer to the people and pledged himself if elected, to devote all his strength to the fulfillment of the promises contained in his platform. He was especially vigorous in his remarks on bank guaranty and denounced the banker who would gamble on the stock market and thereby place in jeopardy the funds entrusted to his care. To the laboring man he pointed to Mr. Taft as their enemy and to the farmer he said that Mr. Taft had nothing to offer in the way of relief. President Roosevelt was again scored for the part he had played in the campaign.

In his principal remarks in Louisville, last night, Mr. Bryan said: "I called attention yesterday to the fact that the republican congressional committee has not promised to make known its contributions even after the election. When the republican national committee announced that contributions to the committee would be made public after the election, it contained the policy of secrecy as to contributions though it refused to give the people the benefit of the publicity until after the votes are polled. Will the republican committee now announce its policy? If it refused to promise publicity even after the election, what conclusion shall we draw from its silence? It comes under the condemnation of the republican national committee and there can be but one explanation of its refusal to give the names of contributors and that explanation is that the congressional committee is to be made the blind pool into which money will be poured that will be too much tainted to give to the republican national committee. I demand an answer to the question, Will the republican congressional committee promise to give to the public the names of the contributors to the congressional fund? The campaign is drawing to a close. The republican committee has refused to tell the public how much it has collected, but republican newspapers announce that money has been pouring into the treasury lately and big sums were sent into the doubtful states.

"What use is to be made of these big sums at this period of the campaign? It is not to be used for literature, for the circulation of literature has almost passed. It is not to be used for the perfecting of the organization, for the organization has already been perfected. What other use can be contemplated except the purchase of such votes as can be purchased? The republican leaders have not scrupled at purchase in the past and I call your attention to the fact that purchase is now contemplated wherever a purchasable voter can be found. How long will the American people permit the corruption of politics by the predatory interests? How long can the republican party stand to be a moral agency while its leaders resort to the secret contributions and to the enormous corruption fund?"

On the panic question he said: "We have had three panics since 1860 and all three of them came under high tariffs and two of them under republican powers. The panic of '72 came under the Morrill high tariff; the panic of '93 under the McKinley high tariff—a year before that law was repealed. The panic of '07 came under the Dingley high tariff.

"Statistics show there were more business failures the first nine months of this year than there were the first nine months of 1893 or the first nine months of 1894. The failures were greater during the first nine months of this year under the Dingley high tariff than under the Wilson bill. And yet, in spite of this record, Mr. Taft has the audacity to threaten a panic if salaries are withdrawn from republican officials. It is time for the republican leaders to explain why these panics have come under the highest tariff rates this country has known. The only assurance of permanent and universal prosperity is to be found in the democratic policy which is the reduction of taxation, the lowering of the tariff, the prevention of the trusts, the reconciliation of labor and capital, and the protection of deposits. Upon this foundation prosperity can return, and returning can remain."

ALDERMAN BAILEY

Played Buffing Game With Doctor Jones' Name

At a meeting of the board of aldermen held last night Alderman Bailey moved that the name of Dr. William M. Jones be taken from the table. The doctor's name has been resting peacefully on the table for some months and Mr.

ALDERMAN BAILEY.

Bailey sprung something of a surprise when he moved that the name be taken from the table. It was a case of lifting a fellow up to knock him down; to take his hopes to the skies and then to pull them down and bury them, for when it came to the question of voting to confirm the appointment of Dr. Jones, Bailey said "no."

Now there is an opportunity to guess as to who the mayor will next appoint. Several weeks ago it was reported that in the event of Dr. Jones failing to be confirmed, Mayor Farinham said he would send to the board of aldermen the name Dr. Frank O'Sullivan.

The aldermen, last night, passed on a big raft of business. Permission was given to W. F. Stevens to operate a stationary engine in the Old Meadow road.

T. G. Robbins, representing W. E. Potter, gave notice of a claim for personal injury. This was referred to the committee on claims.

Frank Kelly was confirmed as a member of the board of health.

Charles D. Rodger was confirmed as a republican election officer, and Walter Boynton was confirmed as clerk of ward 4, precinct 3.

A. D. Carter, owner of property at Westford and Chelmsford streets, which was to have been taken in order that the turn might be widened, appeared as a remonstrant, and said that the plan of the committee on streets was to take four feet, whereas three feet would be sufficient. He asked that the report of the committee on streets be re-committed. On motion of Alderman Gray, the report was re-committed.

Several resolutions relating to streets went over for seven days under the rules.

The board adopted a resolution providing for the defining and widening of Middlesex street from Pawtucket street to the city line.

The election order, indicating the officers to be chosen at the coming elections, was adopted.

Leave to withdraw was granted to the Lowell Electric Light Corporation in its petition for pole locations in Stevens street.

THE PRESIDENT BISHOP POTTER

To be Associate Editor of Outlook Public Services Over His Body

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Confirmation is expected shortly from Dr. Lyman Abbott of the report that President Roosevelt will become the assistant associate

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Public funeral services were conducted in Grace church yesterday over the body of the Right Rev. H. C. Potter, bishop of the New York Protestant Episcopal diocese who died at Cooperstown in July. The service was preliminary to the transfer of the casket containing the body of the bishop to the final resting place in the crypt in the Tiffany chapel in the great cathedral of St. John the Divine which is still in progress of erection on Morningside Heights. Only a small portion of the crowd which awaited an opportunity to witness the service could be admitted.

Following the church service a long procession followed the bishop's body to the cathedral. Arriving at the crypt an interment service was read by Bishop Greer and Bishop Hare of South Dakota.

Included among the twenty-eight pall-bearers were John Jacob Astor, August Belmont and J. P. Morgan.

At the conclusion of this service the casket was placed in the crypt.

STATE PRISON

FOR MAN FOUND GUILTY OF HOUSE BREAKING

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Herbert S. Dudley, 25 years old, was sentenced for housebreaking by Judge Schenckel to the superior criminal court yesterday to a term of 2½ to 3½ years in state prison. He is yet to answer to indictment for burglary in Worcester, Attleboro and Lynn.

When Dudley was arrested in this city, Sept. 12, he was in possession of $200 worth of stolen property. He was convicted yesterday of taking about $200 in jewelry and silverware from the house of John L. Spaulding, 34 King street, Dorchester.

Robert Nelson was sentenced to three years for robbery, 2½ to 3 years.

CALVARY CHURCH KILLED HIMSELF WAS FINED $600

Meeting and Roll Call After Having Quarrelled With His Wife

AUBURN, Me., Oct. 21.—Edward H. Goddard of Winter street, committed suicide at 3 o'clock yesterday morning by jumping into the Androscoggin river, after a quarrel with his wife. As Mrs. Goddard tells the story, she woke up at about 3 o'clock and feeling lonesome also woke up her husband and began to talk to him. He took offense at something she said and became violently angry, finally jumping out of bed and dressing, saying that he had borne all he could and was going to jump into the river. He then left the house.

Without waiting to dress, Mrs. Goddard followed him in her nightclothes, begging him to stop and return home. He said no head, but went down Winter street and across to Summer street, where Mrs. Goddard finally lost sight of him in the darkness. She went to the house of Anne M. Fitz, across the family, and told her story. Mr. Fitz telephoned to the police station and an officer made a thorough search about the vicinity but found no trace of Mr. Goddard.

Yesterday afternoon, between 12 and 1, some boys crossing the Maine Central railroad bridge above the falls saw something floating in the water. Merritt Clark of Auburn came along just then and discovered that the object was the top of a man's head. He called for assistance and the body, which was that of Mr. Goddard, was pulled ashore by means of a pole. He was fully dressed, even to collar and necktie, but the shoes were unlaced, the strings being tucked inside.

Odd Fellows' Block in Manchester Damaged by Fire

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 21.—The remarkable escape of 250 people, mostly young girls, attending a reception given by dancing teachers in a hall on the third floor of the Odd Fellows block on Hanover street, was the result of a fire that damaged that structure, one of the principal business blocks of the city, last night, to the extent of $60,000. The fire had started on the ground floor in a cleaning establishment, worked up the rear of the building and had suddenly filled the hall with smoke before it was discovered. Despite the interruption, there was no panic. Everyone moved quickly but in an orderly manner for the elevators and stairways. Before the first of them could leave the building there was a loud explosion and all the

THREE PERISHED IS NOT GUILTY

Lives of 100 Persons Man Was Accused of Imperilled by Fire

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Three persons were burned to death and the lives of 100 tenants of a six-story tenement on East Third street were imperilled in a fire that broke out in the building shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. The flames, starting on the ground floor, spread rapidly through the structure and the fire escapes were soon congested with panic-stricken tenants. An explosion in the basement added to the panic. No one was injured by it, however. Shortly afterward firemen sent to the top floor, found three persons dead, who had evidently been caught in the hallway by the flames.

PRICES OF YARN

CONTINUE TO SHOW UPWARD TREND

The cotton yarn market shows further strength and a steadily broadening demand. Buyers are taking more yarns and are paying better prices than they did a few weeks ago. Both knitters and weavers have placed further orders for nearby deliveries, and considerable business is reported to have been turned down by spinners who are not willing to accept orders for delivery next year on the present price basis. Reports from other markets show that an improvement has taken place, and that prices are stronger and the demand larger than it was. There are still some irregularities reported in this market, but they are by no means as pronounced as they were, and dealers are not so anxious now to let go of their stocks at low figures. Several efforts have been made in the past few days to cover requirements for next year at the present market quotations, but most spinners have refused to book orders on that basis. Reports from the various knitting mills in the country show that they have sufficient business on hand to keep their plants running full for the balance of the season. This means that further supplies of yarn will be needed in the immediate future, while at the same time, buyers are already in the market for the purpose of covering future needs. Shippers claim that they have already booked too many orders at prices below the actual cost of production, and that all business taken now and for the future, must be at a profit to the spinner.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The following are feasts of the week: Today, St. Ursula and companion; Thursday, St. Mary Salome; Friday, the Most Holy Redeemer; Saturday, St. Raphael, the archangel; Next Sunday is the 26th after Pentecost.

It is directed that all the people of the archdiocese will receive Holy Communion one week from next Sunday in order to be in a state of grace during the week of the centennial celebration, and to make a good beginning for the next hundred years of Catholicity in this section of the land. On that day the Holy Name societies of the various Lowell Catholic parishes will receive communion in a body.

WOMAN ASKS $5,000 FOR PERSONAL INJURIES

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 21.—A suit for $5,000, brought by Miss Bertha M. Wilkins against Archie C. Pollard, a local automobile dealer, began in superior court yesterday. The suit is for alleged personal injuries received by the plaintiff June 28, 1907, when Miss Wilkins was riding with two others in a buggy, which was struck by an automobile operated by Claude Graves, an employee of Mr. Pollard. Miss Wilkins testified that a week after the accident she was obliged to submit to an operation at a hospital. Since then she alleges she has been in poor health. A motion to quash the indictment and a demurrer were filed in the case of Jas. B. Fraser yesterday. Mr. Fraser's counsel is also endeavoring to restrain jailer Phinney from subjecting Mr. Fraser to being photographed and measured according to the Bertillon system.

RING QUITTERS

Some are Serious and Some Comic

"Faint heart never won fair lady," remarked one of those old time sages during the days when John L. Sullivan was champion. "Faint heart never won fair lady," here goes for a few words.

Quitters—there have been scores of them in the ring, some big and some small. Some of the best stories in the list are told of those on whom fame never smiled, and some are told of champions.

Battling Nelson, himself the games of fighters, had an experience with a colored brother in the Springs which is classic. Nelson was matched to fight this champion welterweight, when the latter was only a feather weight. In the first two rounds the colored gent knocked him down faster than two men could pick him up. "Faint heart never won fair lady," here goes for a few words.

"Come home, you money," he'd yell as he'd sweat the poor battler a crack on the jaw. "Liza needs a new pair of shoes, and here goes to get 'em."

Dingy jumps the ropes.

But Nelson kept on boring in, and the worn began to turn white. Gradually the vision of new shoes and a new pair of shoes, and he began to be a serious problem. At last he jumped over the ropes and made a beeline for his dressing room.

Colonel Andy Mulhearn, manager of the club, intercepted him.

"Come back and fight," yelled Mulhearn.

"Mistah Mulhearn, I've done better enough," replied the colored man, "I'm willing to go down the street and have people point to you and say 'there goes a quitter.'"

"Ah sure an," yelled the fellow. "Ald' right they see me walking down the street and say 'dere goes a quitter,' then have them look down on mah face in de coffin and say 'don't hee look nat'ural!'"

They tell another story about a man fighting at Mulligan's club. Before the fight was started a friend approached the fighter and started to talk about his condition.

"Are you'll fight Bill," he asked. "Fie if you are, Ah'm going to bet the whole wash line on you."

His Confidence Was Intense

"Go to me, pal," said the fighter, confidently. "Ah'm in de pink ob condition, and Ah'll win sure."

"The tell yo' jest how good Ah'm this night. Yo' knows that elder brother ob mine. Well, he's dead, and Ah'm a-goin' to fight disahere man till my dead brother comes back."

The rounds went all right, and then the third he hung out signals of distress and in the fourth hunted for a soft spot. In the fifth he got ready to jump the ropes.

His gambling friend was panic stricken. Rushing to the ringside, he yelled:

"Don't yo' quit Bill. Don't yo' quit. Yo' knows what all yo' told me about dat dead brother. Stick, Bill, stick," he pleaded.

"Mistah Ah'm told you I'd fight disahere man till mah dead brother come back, didn't I," he asked.

"Yo' sure did, Bill," answered his friend.

"Then," yelled Bill in triumph, "it's all over. Ise done. Through dose stars I'm a-gittin' Ah can see my brother a-comin' here with a return ticket."

"Stars and Gloves"

Tommy Feltz was fighting Mississippi, the champion, in Philadelphia. Feltz was hammering Sippi all over the ring and Sippi wanted to quit. He was landing a blow. At the end of the fifth round he staggered back to his corner and began mumbling.

Sam Rolin, his chief second, tried to talk gameness into him.

"What's a matter, Sippi?" asked Sam. "Kain't you fight no bettah than that?"

"Sam, Ise all done," said Sippi. "It's time for any man to stop when he can't see nothin' but stars and gloves."

Joe Gans pulled off a historic quelling after in New York when he fought Frank Erne the first time. Erne cut Gans over the eye and kept jabbing his left hand into the wound. The negro claimed to be blinded. Keeling over to Charley White, the referee, he yelled:

"Mistah White, yo'll have to stop this fight. Ise blind, and Ah can't see no nothin'."

White stopped the fight, and Gans straightened up and walked to his corner as straight as a string.

The A. A. Comedians.

They have a funny bunch of dingers occasionally at the Armory Club. Dick Slater, Young Jack Johnson and other choice names adorn the program, and they hail from cities all over the country. It's a cinch none of them ever went further away from Boston than the South End. They are put on to amuse more than to give a scientific exhibition, and they certainly fill the bill.

It is the most amusing thing in the world to watch these fellows take their corners, and look brave. They smile, grin, show their ivory tusks and then, when one happens to land a hard clout on the other the expression changes. I think the fellow who goes by the name of Jack Johnson can wear the most hopeless look of agony and "I-wanter-get-out-of-here" of any man on earth. The only thing that keeps the jokes in the ring is the fact that all prizes are withheld if they quit.

Walcott and Lavigne

Joe Walcott, when he was champion welter weight, wanted to get out of the ring in front of Kid Lavigne. Well, we could hardly blame Walcott, for the demon Lavigne was the original Battling Nelson, and it was a mighty discouraging thing to attempt to fight him. After the first battle, Walcott was so badly used up that he stayed indoors for several days. Walcott and Lavigne had a strong personal regard for each other despite their terrific ring battles, and the Kid, passing Joe's house, dropped in.

"Come right in," Mistah Lavigne," yelled Joe. "Then, rushing into another room, he produced a little Walcott.

"Chile, yo' come right in yere, and meet a friend of mine. Look on this carefully, for either night he came mighty near to makin' yo' an orphan."

VERLINDEN COMING TO COMPETE IN NEW YORK RACE

According to advices from abroad it is not certain that Ratt and Stoll, winners of the last New York six day race, will be seen in the grid this year. L'Auto says that the German and Hollander are still discussing the proposition offered them by Promoter P. T. Powers. The same source of information announces positively that Bracco, Labrosse, Lappe, Leon Goerger, Faber and Lafontaine have been engaged. Verlinden and Vanhouwari, the Belgian riders, also are spoken of. Although very young, Verlinden is regarded as the coming man in Belgium. Recently he attempted to break the world's unupgraded hour record and only missed it by little over 10 yards.

BROCKTON WON SALEMAN DEFEATED IN CLOSE GAME

BROCKTON, Oct. 21.—With a parade through the streets of the city, headed by a band and an address by Rev. Edward Gilmore, who put the first bell into the National Polo season was opened in this city last night. Brockton winning from Salem, 5 to 3. The visitors had two Brockton amateurs on their line up, in place of Jason and Devlin, who have not as yet joined the team. Woods, the Brockton half back, was knocked out by being hit on the jaw with a ball, but was able to resume play after ten minutes. The summary:

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

The large number of fatal accidents due to crossing railway tracks at the wrong time has suggested all kinds of remedies. The warning noises of an approaching train are so similar to the usual noise of the automobile that they cannot be depended upon for the safety which the horse drawn vehicle may have, and the speed of approach is no much greater than the car driver is further handicapped. There is one way which seems both safe and simple. The car should be driven up to within a few feet of the track and stopped; the driver should get out and look over his shoulder and the car can proceed across the tracks or wait for the train to pass before doing so. No better warning than the Stop, Look and Listen signs at some of the railway crossings could be devised for automobile drivers.

There will be no German automobile exhibition this year. The federation of German Manufacturers has decided to organize an exhibition before December 1, 1909, and has confirmed that decision despite the German Imperial Automobile club's request to the contrary. It is probable that the next exhibition will be held at Frankfurt instead of at Berlin.

As a result of the negotiations conducted by the Automobile club of Buffalo with S. W. McMichael, chief inspector of Canadian customs, members of the club are now permitted to go into Canada without putting up a bond. All that is necessary is to present a 1908 membership card, which will permit a stay of three days in the Dominion. Of course it will be necessary for each Canadian motorist to take out the Ontario motor vehicle license, but in doing away with the bond the club is saving each of its members from $2.50 to $5 a year.

The "Tour Around the World," which was part of the Montclair Automobile carnival some time ago, proved such a success that a similar trip is to be given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. in the towns of Durham, Madison and Morristown. Many prominent residents of Morris county will throw open their homes, and each one will be decorated to represent six important cities of the world. The residents of Calkin, E. Wheeler of Chatham will represent Washington, D. C., C. M. Dicker's home will be decorated to represent Yokohama, Japan; the home of L. B. Tompkins of Morristown will be turned into typical residence of Constantinople. Here the Arabian horses owned by the Davenport will be shown to the tourists. The next house will represent Berlin, Germany. This will be located at the residence of F. C. Blanchard at Morristown. James H. McGraw will decorate his estate so that the visitors will imagine they are in the heart of Spain. The last stop will take the tourists to the capital of China, which will be represented at the home of James M. Gifford. Herbert Strong, who is managing the carnival, has assurance of the co-operation of the dealers and private owners of automobiles, so that there will be no dearth of motor cars to carry the travellers around the fifteen mile course.

Many motorists have considerable trouble keeping their gasoline tank clean, as sometimes waste or cotton fluff may gather in the outlet or between the outlet and the tank valve, so that it must be poked out from above or below. If the filling is directly over the tank outlet it is easy, with the aid of a flashlight and a stiff straight piece of wire to push the obstruction downward after disconnecting the gasoline pipe below the tank valve.

Heating Boilers

Steam and Hot Water

The peculiar fact about the new "Crawford" and "Walker" heating boilers is that they heat where others fail. They are a gilt-edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care. The "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors of these boilers are found in no others.

MARVIN HART WON HIS BOUT WITH TWIN SULLIVAN LAST NIGHT

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Marvin Hart of Louisville, Ky., and Jack (Twin) Sullivan of Cambridge, made a poor exhibition of the main bout of the boxing at the Armory Athletic association last night, the fight being finally awarded to Hart in the fifth round on a foul.

DIAMOND NOTES

There will be something doing when the annual league meeting takes place. Worcester loses six men this year. They are Owens, Barberich, Blackburn and McCann. John Carney will hardly come back to Haverhill unless he has lost his graft in Trenton, N. J. Melanis was drafted by Jersey City but is not allowed. Providence will not get the player either. Joe Knott, the old Worcester player, this year with Harrisburg, has been drafted by Buffalo. Red Calhoun, the old Haverhill player, goes to Jersey City. Frank Chance, manager of the three-time champions of the National league, twice champions of the world, believes that the Cubs will win two pennants again next year. Members of the National Baseball commission, including Dan Johnson, Harry C. Pulliam and "Garry" Herrmann, will have to appear in the debtors' court because Joseph E. Tinker, shortstop with the Cubs, failed to pay

EVERGREEN CLUB DANCE

The Evergreen club held its seventh annual social and dance in Prescott hall last night. The hall was comfortably filled and an enjoyable evening was passed by all present. Hibbard's orchestra furnished music for dancing. The officers were: General manager, Cornelius Buchanan; assistant general manager, Arthur O'Brien; floor marshal, Sandy Dunn; aids, Daniel Bell, Harry Baker and James Ward.

GOV. HUGHES' CHANCES.

Should Governor Hughes be elected in New York it will be an indication that there is a public sentiment against gambling. There are many who believe that the people of New York rather like the gambling habit. Even republicans admit the state is in doubt. It may constitute the nucleus of the Bryan landslide.

OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED BY EVENING SCHOOLS.

Now that the evening schools are open the youth who had to leave school on graduating from the grammar school, or perhaps before, has a splendid opportunity of improving his education.

Even those who went farther than the grammar school can take up supplementary courses at the evening schools with profit.

Many grammar school graduates are woefully deficient in their knowledge of grammar and English. That is a branch in which they can learn perhaps more easily in the evening than in the day schools.

The evening drawing schools also afford a splendid opportunity to those who are mechanically inclined to train the eye and the hand. There is scarcely any business one can enter in which a practical knowledge of drawing will not be very useful.

The youth of foreign birth will not miss the advantages offered by instruction in the evening schools. They appreciate these schools because they never enjoyed any such opportunities in their own land.

A WORD TO DEMOCRATS.

Two weeks from yesterday will be held the state and national elections, and yet there has not been the sign of a rally in Lowell. Where, oh where, are the torchlight parades of former days? Perhaps the funds necessary to produce such pageants are lacking.

The republican party has not received so much from the trusts this year as formerly, not nearly so much as when Mark Hanna was the fat fryer.

There is no enthusiasm for the republican ticket, and Bryan is wisely wasting none of his energy looking after such hide-bound states as Massachusetts.

In regard to the state campaign, it is also unusually quiet. Yet the democratic party should unite its forces in support of the ticket and to defeat the hopes of that political mountebank Hearst, whose aim is wherever possible to defeat democratic candidates and to show political strength where that is not possible.

Let it be remembered that a vote given to Hearst's league is a vote thrown away and the same may be said of the socialist party.

Democrats of Lowell should stand loyally by their ticket and remember particularly that Rep. O'Donnell is candidate for senator and should be supported as a young man who would honor his city and his district.

Mr. Vahy, the democratic nominee for governor, is a bright young man of clean record. He is making a lively campaign against considerable odds and deserves well at the hands of his party.

GRASPING AT STRAWS.

Various Taft organs are coming out with a charge that is wholly groundless, to the effect that Taft is to be opposed by the Catholic church west of the Alleghenies because of something he did, the nature of which is not stated.

This is an appeal to prejudice, pure and simple, and it is a republican ruse to save Taft. There is good grounds for believing that there is absolutely no foundation for the story.

The Catholic church has not spoken, and it is neither for Taft nor for Bryan. There is as much difference among Catholics on the merits of the two men and of the parties they represent, as among any other religious body in the country.

The republican candidate is opposed not because of anything he has done personally, for, considered as a public man, a lawyer and a judge, Mr. Taft stands high. The chief fault to be found with him is that he is running on a trust platform and that he is Roosevelt's candidate.

If the Catholic church adopted a policy antagonistic to any candidate or any principle, that policy would be operative all over the country and not alone in any section thereof. The fact that even those who put out the report locate it in the region of the Alleghenies, thereby show how absurd is the fabrication. It is a silly, clumsy lie, and it is but an indication of the extremes to which the republican organs are driven when they resort to such tactics.

That report is published here as coming from the west. In the west, no doubt, the same will be published as coming from the east, but nowhere in the east, the west, the north or the south is there any foundation for the story. It is an appeal to the prejudice of the republicans who are deserting Taft. It can be compared only with the effort of a drowning man to save himself by grasping at a straw.

SEEN AND HEARD

Josiah Pettigill has been in town. Perhaps there are those who do not know Mr. Pettigill, but the old printers—who were working at the case in Manchester twenty and twenty-five years ago—know him. Mr. Pettigill used to work in the Union office before the typewriter machines came into use. He was a type who Jack Gunn was on deck, when Remy Island was in the job office, and when Fred McLeod picked the nonpareil from the little boxes. "Whisk" Pile was a gay youth from the country, and I. Russ Brown was a director in the office of the Sun. "Thunder" Jones held down slag six, and Tom Hopkins was a compositor over in the corner of the composing room. Dave Cobb, who recently died, was on earth, and Bob Kelley was the paymaster.

Nearly all of the above are dead and gone. There are a few of them left, and hardly any of them know the soft-spoken man with a white mustache who looked into the office and said "How-de-do, they used to have a lot of fun with Pettigill in the old days—days that have gone never to return. Nearly all the old boys are dead."

Pettigill stopped picking type when the machines came in, and he is now working in a cotton mill in Lowell—Manchester Union.

Mrs. Hooper Mallet of Montreal, the Mazdaznan enthusiast who was a guest of Mrs. Ellen M. Shaw recently, and whose name has appeared in connection with the conservative proceedings, gave an interview to the Montreal Daily Witness, under the date of October 15. From it are culled the following interesting statements regarding the Mazdaznan beliefs:

"We worship God, but we accept no book as our infallible guide. We recognize all books in their places. That is, we recognize the value of the Koran, all of the bibles, and the Christian Bible. We recognize Christ, but only as one of the great teachers. Zoroaster was the first of these great teachers; Buddha and Mahomet were others, and Christ came last, was the greatest. Mazdaznan interferes with nobody's religion."

"But you have your own temples and religious ceremonies?"

"Yes, but we have no salaries in connection with our temples. Every teacher must earn his own living first by doing his share of the world's work."

"We have a beautiful temple in Chicago, but it is the private property of Dr. Hanzlik."

"Are there many Sun worshippers in Montreal?"

"Only two, my husband and myself; but we often have meetings here in our drawing room and explain the principles of Mazdaznan to our friends."

"Is it true that a temple is to be erected in Montreal?"

"No—at any rate we have no idea of erecting one at present. Our statements that Mrs. Shaw had given money for the purpose, that is false. All that she has done is to place $100 in trust as a contribution toward a temple in Montreal, should we decide to build one at any time in the future. No land has been bought for the purpose in Montreal, nor has any site been selected."

"All the land we have bought is land on which to build our own home."

An effort is being made to secure Rev. Fr. McGuire, S. J. of Boston, an eloquent temperance speaker, to come to Lowell this winter.

A pleasing incident is brought to light by the appointment of officers in the high school regiment and it is the first time in the history of the regiment that it has happened. Joseph E. Cahnan has been chosen lieutenant-colonel for the year, while his brother, Leo D. Cahnan served in the same capacity last year.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VALUE IN WASTE LANDS

Boston Herald: Practical forestry in Sweden, under the direction of a royal commission, resulted last year in supplying wood, lumber and other forest products to the value of $13,250,000, and yet accumulated timber resources by a growth of twice the amount of the standing timber felled. Sweden has but 257,500 acres of forest land, but in one province alone there have been planted 5,842,000 trees, distributed over 1011 personal holdings. Appreciation of the value of a cultivated timber crop would give a new appraisal to what are now termed "waste lands" in New England.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS RULE

Johnstown Democrat: Mr. Taft's speeches, when belted down, are the old republican "holier than thou" argument. He resorts to that tired worn declaration that all the prosperity the country has ever known has been under the protection policy! But why didn't Mr. Taft add that every penny this country has ever known developing under a republican administration?

Why didn't he add that under a protection policy we are now going through the worst panic this country has ever experienced?

Taft's claim for support is not what his party will do, but what it has done. And he isn't even candid about that. He ignores the fact that under republican rule the trust system has been built up.

The republican party has been in absolute control of the government for twelve years. Yet it has failed to give us the reforms the people demand—because plutocracy and the campaign contribution and not the people rule.

HARD TIMES AND HARD TIMES

Exchange: Republican papers are finding much comfort in the industrial depression which has become acute in Great Britain and they appear to believe that the hard times prevailing there are in some way a consolation answer to those who criticize the republic.

publican party for the hard times which are with us in the United States.

But why should not our terrible panic have been injurious even beyond our own borders? How could the enormous shrinkage in our buying power have failed to affect the markets of the world? In the days of the earth are electricity the nations of the earth are built together in commercial and industrial interdependence. What affects one country is bound to be felt in greater or less degree in all the other countries. A shock felt in the United States must in the very nature of things communicate itself to all the countries with which our industrial interests are related.

A year ago one of the greatest panics in the world's history brought industrial paralysis to this country. The shock of it was felt to the uttermost ends of civilization. There was no island of the sea so remote, there was no village in Russia or in China or in Germany or in England so obscure, that some echo of the collapse did not reach it. There was never in the world's history a better illustration of the truth that the injury of one is the concern of all.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mrs. A. E. Brown, for 25 years an expert in the United States treasury, has finished a task that called for exceeding patience and deftness. A roll of bank notes which had been hidden in a tin can and buried in the earth for twenty years was given to Mrs. Brown to examine. The money had rotted and was little better than green-tinted pulp. She was so successful in separating the decayed paper, piecing the bits and deciphering the letters and figures, that practically the entire roll was redeemed and made good to the distressed owner, who will probably hereafter know enough to hide his money in a reliable savings bank.

Mrs. Russell Sage has bought an abandoned race track and turned it into a playground for the children of Sax Harbor, Long Island. The old race track had become a wild tangle of weeds and brush. Now, under the advice of experts, it will be made into a beautiful park. There will also be an athletic field in connection with the playground.

The Massachusetts Woman Suffrage association will hold its 39th annual meeting in Boston the 27th and 28th. Mrs. Ethel Showden, the wife of a member of parliament, a very charming woman, will speak on the evening of the 27th in Faneuil hall. On the afternoon of the 28th a reception will be given to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe at the association's headquarters at 41 Marlboro street. The other sessions will be devoted to business.

The board of directors of the Johns Hopkins Hospital Association, association at a recent meeting declared itself in favor of woman suffrage.

The Women's National Trade Union League, at the three conventions held simultaneously in New York, Boston, and Chicago, passed unanimous resolutions in favor of the ballot for women. Woman suffrage was also endorsed by the American Federation of Labor, and by the State Federations of Labor in California, Connecticut, Colorado, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, While "paling off" a number of "fresh" students at the Taft school last week a master intruder and put a good-classman did not like the actions of the new boys and so after the latter had retired the older students went to their rooms and took them from their beds and took them to the washroom below. Later the faculty met and the following suspensions for hazing were ordered: John N. Garfield, Washington, D. C., son of the secretary of the interior, Kenneth Montague, San Francisco; Fred Andrews, New York; Henry Foxworth, Pittsburg; Garfield is suspended for three weeks and the others for six weeks. Horace D. Taft is at the head of the school.

J. George Spangenberg, a blind veteran of the Civil war, fell dead at Carlisle, Pa., while raising a large American flag on his house in honor of the reunion there of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Samuel R. Scott, a prominent negro citizen of Brooklyn, was hanged at his home in his 67th year, and much to uplift his race. He was appointed a member of the board of education of the old city of Brooklyn by Mayor Low and served for eight years. He was secretary of the committee for the improvement of negroes in New York and was formerly active in republican politics, but in the present campaign was with the democratic party. Mr. Scott had achieved some success as an inventor.

ANNUAL SOCIAL

OF THE EMPLOYEES OF PILLING SHOE CO

The first annual social and dance of the employees of the Pilling Shoe company was held in Associate hall last night and despite the fact that it was the initial attempt of the employees in social work the event proved to be a success both from a social and a financial standpoint.

Music for dancing was furnished by the Calumet orchestra.

The following officers were responsible for the success of the affair:

GETS DIVORCE

MRS. HOXIE ALSO IS GIVEN $300 ALIMONY

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 21.—In the superior court yesterday Judge Robert G. Pike granted a divorce to Mrs. Abbie T. Hoxie from Joseph E. Hoxie of this city.

Mrs. Hoxie amended her libel as first filed by stating all charges making reference to Mary F. Walker, and adding charges of extreme cruelty against Mr. Hoxie. The divorce was granted on those grounds, Mr. Hoxie offering no objection. The court ordered Mr. Hoxie pay alimony in the sum of $300, and the order was promptly complied with.

Mrs. Hoxie last year brought suit against Mrs. Walker, who is a woman of considerable wealth, alleging alienation of her husband's affection, and asking $50,000 damages. The case was bitterly contested, and after a trial lasting several days in the court at Exeter, the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant. The case was carried to the supreme court, and is yet undecided. The trial of the case was evidenced by repetition by witnesses of alleged conversations over the telephone between Mrs. Walker and Mr. Hoxie.

ROYAL ARCANUM

NEW COUNCIL WAS ORGANIZED IN NASHUA

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 21.—A large number of members of the Royal Arcanum from all over New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts was present last evening at the exercises attending the institution of Nashua council, 1463 of that order, in Knights of Malta hall, State Deputy A. F. Howell of Boston instituted the council. Mr. Howell during the past few weeks has secured 40 names of prospective members, about 30 of whom were present.

A special car from Lowell brought about 50 members, headed by Past Grand Regent A. W. Davis and A. G. Walsh and past regents of several local councils. A degree team from Lowell council exemplified the work.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

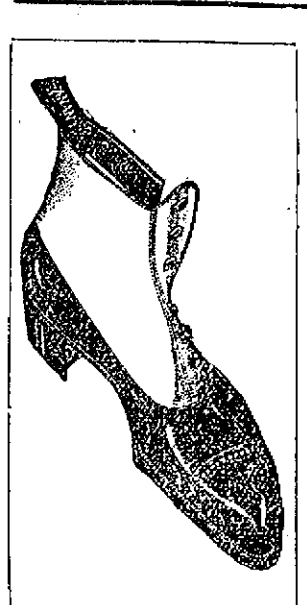

A largely attended and very enthusiastic meeting of the St. John's Ladies' Auxiliary was held in St. John's hall last evening. The various committees made their special reports. The committee in charge of the harvest party to be held tomorrow night in the town hall reported everything in readiness. It is expected that this party will excel all social events of the season. The literary committee reported that a Halloween party would be held in the hall on Friday evening, Oct. 30, for the members and also the members of the St. John's T. A. society. After the meeting adjourned a musical program was given and dancing enjoyed.

The members of the Holy Name society of St. John's parish drilled in the town hall last evening. The parish expects to send down to Boston three companies to take part in the parade Nov. 1. The order is much pleased with the progress the members are making. Another drill will be held Sunday morning at 10 a.m.

Henry McCoy has returned home after a long departure from the village. He was formerly employed as telegraph operator in the Boston & Maine station but the past three months he has been on duty at other stations.

GRAY ORDINANCE

MR. POORE DOES NOT APPROVE ITS PROVISIONS

Editor of The Sun:—

I see by your columns that the rights of individual citizens who are not fortunate enough to belong to a big corporation are to be taken away by the "Gray Ordinance," so-called. By this ordinance, if any poor man owning a small house wants to repair something, or dig up an old drain, or do any small job in the streets around his house, he must wait to have the hole filled up by city employees, working with their usual leisure and lack of skill.

If the local manufacturing corporations want to do something to the streets it must all be put back at their expense, by city employees. This gives an unjust preference to the over-privileged city employe over outside workmen.

Of course the Lowell Electric Light Co. and the Gaslight company must be excepted. Can't Alderman Gray search around and find a few more corporations to exempt from his ordinance while the individual taxpayer pays the bills? That ordinance ought to be defeated and so caught any alderman or councilman who votes for it. It is one of the most pernicious and unfair ordinances ever submitted to the city council and will injure and annoy every taxpayer in Lowell as well as workmen outside of the city employ.

Yours respectfully,

Geo. W. Poore.

NIGHT EDITION

MAZDAZNAN CASE

Taken Under Advisement By Judge McIntire Today

It was an awful ordeal which Mrs. Ellen M. Shaw passed through today in the probate court at Cambridge in listening to the scathing argument of Lawyer Kittredge, counsel for the petitioners, that a conservator be appointed for Mrs. Shaw. It was an ordeal mingled with bitterness and pathos. Looking her face to face Mr. Kittredge spoke of the visions and delusions that were given voice to by witnesses during the six days of the trial and then he made particular mention and laid particular stress upon the vision that brought back from the spirit world, from the angels and from the holy of holies, the form, face, voice and features of her husband, telling her he was sorry that he had disappeared from the Mazdaznans when on earth and that he had come back to atone, and to advise her to spend her money just as she was spending it, to sell her property and give everything over to the Mazdaznans.

During the relation of this vision by Mr. Kittredge Mrs. Shaw broke down and wept.

He started his argument at 9:30 o'clock and began by characterizing

Lawyer Wilson's long argument of yesterday as a most extraordinary presentation of the case. He said it was inconsistent, a plea to the gallery, violent to witnesses and intended to impeach them. He said that from the book of "Inner Studies" Mr. Wilson had taken passages to suit himself. He said that "Inner Studies" was a crude medical treatise of an obscure character. He said that the book should be condemned and destroyed by the Society for the Prevention of Vice.

He said that it was too bad that this poor woman at the age of 55 years should find herself a victim of a grafting, insincere, unnatural, vulgar and indecent cult.

He criticized Mr. Wilson for likening the sufferings of Mrs. Shaw to those of Jesus Christ, Socrates, Martin Luther and the Pious Fathers and as to Mr. Wilson's comparisons of temples and altars Mr. Kittredge said "This temple in Lowell is dedicated to the sale of patent medicines and obscene literature like 'Inner Studies'."

Mr. Kittredge upon reaching the body of his argument reviewed all the visions, and all of the delusions attributed to Mrs. Shaw and said that they could point to nothing else but impaired thought.

He said that this petition was not one to prove insanity. It simply sought to show that the respondent, because of mental incapacity on account of age was incapable of caring for her property and that there was great danger that her property would be turned over to the hands of the grafters, the Mazdaznans.

Denounces Hanish

It was evident that Attorney F. W. Kittredge had determined to make his final argument strong along the line of Mazdaznanism and he condemned it in most scathing terms. He said things that were hard for the wealthy and aged disciple of Mazdaznanism to bear. He played the head of that cult, Dr. Hanish, "the little master," as the organizer of a grafting cult under the guise of religion.

He declared that Mrs. Shaw, who it is charged by the petitioners intended to convert her money to the use of Dr. Hanish, was "mentally weak and unable to care for her property." He added that she was entirely under the domination of "these grafters."

"Mazdaznanism in Lowell," said Mr. Kittredge, "is dedicated to Dr. Hanish's Specific No. 2, and his size advertising this on the windows of the Sun Worshipers' temple here."

Many Women There

A large number of women had jammed into the court room to hear the closing arguments in the remarkable hearing. Mrs. Shaw, against whom the proceeding was instituted, Mrs. Fannie (Gordon) Rice, her niece by marriage, and one of the foremost witnesses in her behalf, were present and occupied seats together. Mrs. Shaw showed great agitation under the fire of the counsel for the petitioner.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Rich Hiltner, the high priestess of the Sun Worshipers, was also in court and sat smiling and undisturbed as Mr. Kittredge launched his shafts of oratory in her direction. With her was her 12-year-old daughter, Constance, who was affectionately styled "Little St. Constance" by Dr. Hanish. This was the little girl's first appearance at the hearing.

In his argument to the court Mr. Kittredge said: "Our claim is that Mrs. Shaw is mentally weak and unable to care for her property, and that she is entirely subjected to the methods of a grafting cult, under the guise of a religion. They are the Mazdaznans or Sun Worshipers."

Knew Frank Shaw

Mr. Kittredge, turning so that he looked fairly into the face of the respondent, Mrs. Shaw, said: "I knew Frank Shaw and he was one of the finest men in Lowell. I wonder what he would say if he were here today. I wonder if Mrs. Shaw would go to Montreal if he were alive. I wonder if he would say to his wife, that while on earth the first time, he condemned her tomfoolery and that he was sorry. I wonder if he would say: 'Helen Shaw, I come back to you to advise you to give the Mazdaznans that heavenly crowd, all your money. That was a wonderful vision Mrs. Shaw is alleged to have had, the very kind of vision she wanted.'"

"Then there was that other vision where she told Miss Wells that her husband had come back from the spirit world and had said that he strangled the boy Maxfield to death. He strangled him because he said he was lonesome in the spirit world without him. Isn't that terrible?"

"We claim that Mrs. Shaw is deluded on the very vital point of this petition."

"Then there is that other vision where the little master beckoned her to the altar and called her 'Mother Shaw.' It is the smart, capable Mrs. Shaw that had these visions. Then she tells you that when in her letters to Capt. Hitchcock she signed herself 'Mother Shaw' that that didn't mean anything more than she was a natural mother, that it didn't have any religious significance."

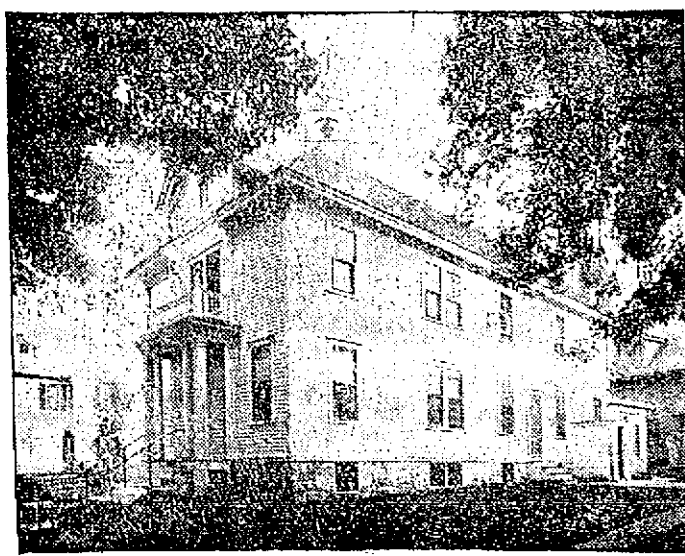

"Then there is that other story about Hanish being the Christ of today. Can it be possible that this man in Chicago is preaching the advent of another Messiah and that there can be a virgin mother of another Christ? Is this the stuff that this sensible, sincere, practical, matter-of-fact, every-day woman is believing?"

"She says the stories that she told about Dr. Hanish being lost in a desert and finding women in caves was told as a joke. I want to say to you, Your Honor, that Helen Shaw is not a joker; she never joked in her life. And she told the stories including the one about her husband, Frank Shaw, being cast away on an island where he associated with apes and monkeys and that Maxfield's deformity was due to that fact, she wasn't joking. That story is consistent with the Mazdaznan cult."

Mr. Kittredge made a general review of the evidence and read from the book "Inner Studies." At the close of his argument he marked in a copy of the book certain passages that he wanted Judge McIntire to read, and Judge McIntire took the case under advisement. It is expected that he will submit his findings within a few days.

A LOWELL WOMAN ONE MILLION PAID

To Wed Wealthy South-bridge Man

A Lowell young lady, whose occupation is that of nurse, and whose name is Katherine A. McNeil, is to wed Mr. George W. Kay, a prominent young man of Southbridge. The latter was injured in an accident on the South-bridge electric road in which one person was killed and about 10 injured. He was taken to the City Hospital, Worcester, and for more than three months he lay between life and death.

When he was rushed to the hospital Miss Katherine A. McNeil, a young Lowell woman, attending the Hospital Training School for Nurses, was assigned to care for him.

To this day Kay declares that only for her constant care and attention he would never have pulled through the long and hard struggle for life.

His brother, George W. Kay, met Miss McNeil at the hospital. They fell in love and are to be married in Lowell.

Frank Kay, the brother over whose sick bed their love romance began, will be best man.

MAN WAS SHOT DEAD A SAVINGS BANK

CLINTON, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Margaret Clement, wife of George Clement, and Arthur King, both of Clinton, were arrested this afternoon in connection with a shooting which resulted in the death of Aida George Azen, a Syrian peddler at Mrs. Clement's house at Sashua crossing, near the Clinton Junction station of the Central Massachusetts division of the Boston & Maine railroad, shortly before noon today. Azen's death was caused by a bullet wound in the head.

Practically all the police have had to work on the story of the affair as told to them by Mrs. Clement. According to her account, Azen drove up to her house, which is about a mile and a half south of Clinton, Centre and half a mile from any other house, just before noon. She made a few purchases from him and then he importuned her to buy more, at the same time, she alleges, making improper proposals. She told the police that she ordered the peddler from the house, but that he seized her and forced her into a sleeping room. There, she said, she struggled with him and finally succeeded in opening a bureau drawer from which she took a .32-caliber, six-cylinder revolver belonging to her husband. She says that when Azen saw the revolver he retreated into the kitchen.

At the same time, she says, King and a man named Thomas Ryan, who had been passing the house, came into the kitchen attracted by her screams. Azen tried to escape, she says, by running into a passageway that led to the other side of the house. King, she says, cried, "Come, it is not give it to me," indicating the revolver, which she was flourishing, and snatching it from her hands, pressed Azen through the passage. Mrs. Clement said that she was of the opinion that King fired three shots at the Syrian and he fell in the passageway with a bullet in his head.

Mrs. Clement then ran to the grocery store of Thomas Ryan, a neighbor, and notified the police by telephone of what had happened. Chief Murphy and Officer Patrick J. Murphy immediately hurried to her house.

and placed King under arrest. Later Chief Murphy accompanied by a member of the Massachusetts district police called on Mrs. Clement. The two officers subjected Mrs. Clement to a severe examination after which they placed her under arrest in connection with the affair. Ryan left the house shortly after the shooting and up to 2 p. m. had not been found. Dr. Tobey, of this town, the medical examiner, made a superficial examination of Azen's body sufficient to show him that death was caused by the wound in the head. Whether any other shots took effect will be determined later. Although Azen was generally known to have carried a large sum of money with him a search of his clothing disclosed only $2.50.

Mrs. Clement is about 27 years old and is the wife of a teamster employed by the Bigelow Carpet Co. She has three children, the eldest five years of age and the youngest only two months. King and Ryan are both residents of this town and are well known.

The police are not inclined to be communicative regarding their reasons for arresting Mrs. Clement but it is understood that their answers to questions under severe examination were not satisfactory to the police. It is also said that her clothing was blood-stained, indicating that she was remarkably close to Azen when he was wounded.

No definite charge has been preferred against either Mrs. Clement or King, the police awaiting developments in the case before bringing them into court.

BAR ASSOCIATION
WILL ATTEND FUNERAL OF PETER A. FAY

The Lowell bar association at a special meeting held today appointed the following delegation to attend the funeral of the late Peter A. Fay which will take place tomorrow at 11 a. m. from the house in Fifth street and at 9 from St. Michael's church. William H. Bent, Thomas J. Enright, Hon. Robert H. Pearson, Gardner W. Pearson, John E. Farley, Robert J. Crowley, Dennis J. Murphy and J. Joseph O'Connor.

The Bohemian club met last evening and appointed a delegation to attend the funeral and also sent a beautiful floral tribute consisting of a few foot tablet bearing a large cross done in white carnations. The back ground is of bronze galaxy leaves and green magnolia leaves relieved by yellow and white chrysanthemums and holly leaves while at the base of the cross is a box of satin ribbon inscribed in golden letters "Our Friend". The piece attracted much attention in McManis' window this morning.

TOKIO, Oct. 21.—Two official luncheons, Admiral Togo's garden party, a dinner given by Premier Katsura and a ball at his residence were the principal features among the innumerable forms of lavish entertainment offered the officers and men of the American battleship fleet today.

The garden party at which Admiral Togo was host was one of the most elaborate functions of its kind ever seen in Tokyo. It was held on the grounds of the Saitama Imperial gardens which are the property of the emperor, and which comprise about 1000 yards of lawn broken by woods and water and with vistas of the park of Versailles. The invitations numbered 1500 and the guests included all the American officers of high rank and Japanese from every walk of life.

"A NEW MENACE"

Bryan Gets After the New York Central Officials

NEWARK, O., Oct. 21.—"I say to you that the little ward healer who goes around and bribes a man for five dollars is a moral character beside the man who attempts to use his power to threaten those who work for him and to buy them by a promise of increase or threaten them by a promise of decrease."

Thoroughly aroused by what he terms "a new menace" through the publication today of a despatch stating that the officials of the New York Central lines had summoned their workmen and informed them that if the demands for a ten per cent. reduction in wages but if they lost there would be an increase, W. J. Bryan in a before-breakfast speech to a vast throng poured a volley of criticism into the republican party for its campaign tactics. The second invasion of the native state of his republican opponent was begun by Mr. Bryan at this place, he coming direct from Louisville.

Mr. Bryan said: "I am glad to come again into Ohio. I am glad to come at a time when democratic prospects are so bright that even the republican national committee is compelled to confess that the republican candidate must come back to fight for his own state."

After discussing labor conditions at some length Mr. Bryan asserted that his opponents were resorting to coercion. "This morning's paper gives an illustration of attempted coercion," he said. He then read from a despatch in a Columbus paper which stated that 500 workmen of the Big Four railroad at Bellefontaine, part of the New York Central system, had been called together in the shops and notified that if Bryan was elected there would be a ten per cent. reduction in wages and that if he was defeated there would be an increase in both pay and work. The despatch stated that these officers were making a tour of the entire system for the purpose of making the same announcement to all the employees.

"There, my friends," said Mr. Bryan, "is the statement in a republican paper of the threat made by the officials of a great railroad system. They threaten to punish men for voting the democratic ticket and they promise to increase their pay and their work if they will vote the republican ticket. I say to you that the little ward healer who goes around and bribes a man for five dollars is a moral character beside the man who attempts to use his power to threaten those who work for him and to buy them by a promise of increase or threaten them by a promise of decrease."

Referring to his opponent, Mr. Bryan said: "Who is this man whose election is to be a balm in Gilead and remove financial distress? He is the member of the president's cabinet whom the president appointed to be his successor. If he could not last fall prevent a panic when he was in the cabinet, how can he prevent one next fall merely by raising him a little higher. If he and the president together could not protect you from the panic last fall, how can he hope to do it all alone if the president deserts him and hides in the jungles of Africa hunting tigers?"

The program of today includes stops at a large number of places, concluding tonight with a stop at Williams-town, W. Va.

HERRICK SURE

That The Republicans Will Carry Ohio

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Former Gov. Herrick of Ohio came to republican headquarters today and made the following statement: "The best evidence that Ohio will remain true to the republican faith is found in the attitude of the labor element in that state."

"Senator Foraker while not actively engaged in the campaign is too patriotic to want to see Bryan elected. If there ever has been any doubt in Ohio about Taft, but there never was, that doubt was dissipated when Mr. Taft took the stump in Ohio."

"Another thing which has strengthened the faith of the republicans of Ohio was the appearance of Gov. Hughes. He is the biggest vote getter that has travelled through the west."

Chairman Hitchcock will leave for Chicago tomorrow.

SHERMAN SPOKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Under the auspices of the hat trade of this city, James Sherman spoke at a noon day meeting today to an audience that crowded the Taft and Sherman club room at 718 Broadway.

In reply to an enthusiastic welcome by the voters Mr. Sherman said:

"If anything would swell a man's head so he would need a new hat your greeting would do it."

ABANDONS HIS TRIP

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 21.—J. W. Kern, the democratic vice presidential nominee today abandoned his campaign in this vicinity and will leave at 5 p. m. for home, called there by a message from his wife telling of the serious illness of their eight-year-old son. He had arranged to go to Ashtabula and Conneaut, O., to speak at the latter place tomorrow night when he was informed of the illness of his son. He suddenly taken a turn for the worse.

FUNERALS

GUINNEY—The funeral of the late William Guinney took place yesterday afternoon from his home, 8 Cranes avenue, at 2.30 and was largely attended. The bearers were James Fox, Joseph Welch and George E. Worthen representing the G. A. R., and Peter A. Hayden, Charles Cotter and Thomas Doolley. The grave tributes were profuse. At the grave Rev. Timothy Callahan read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

MEADE—The funeral of John F. Meade took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the rooms of Undertaker Healey. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

FUNERAL NOTICES

CHASE—Died Oct. 20, Langdon S. Chase, aged 69 years, at his home, 74 Bellevue street. He is survived by a widow, one daughter, Mrs. William O. Dickerman, and one son, Edgar Chase of Cambridge. Funeral from his home, 74 Bellevue street, Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Friends are requested kindly to omit flowers. Funeral in charge of C. M. Young Co.

$438,000 FUND

To be Administered by Hospital Trustees

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—In an opinion handed down today the supreme judicial court decided that the fund of $438,000 left by Gardner S. Burbank of Pittsburgh for a hospital for the sick, should be administered by the trustees of the hospital as agents for the city. Mr. Burbank died in 1888 and through the death of his daughter, without issue, the fund became available several years ago. In the meantime the Burbanks had been organized by the legislature. The trustees under the will asked the court for instructions as to whether they should pay the money directly to the hospital or the city. The court decided in favor of the city. The effect of the incorporation did not take away the city's rights to absorb the property bequeathed under the will.

GETTING BETTER

President Mellen on Business Outlook

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 21.—In reply to a question as to the experience of the company during the recent period of financial and industrial depression, President Mellen addressing the stockholders of the New Haven railroad in annual meeting today, said that the year has been one of the most unfortunate the company has ever been through. Since June 30, however, which is the end of the fiscal year, there has been steady improvement and in September there was good business. While the progress in July and August was among the same lines as last year the month of October thus far has not fulfilled the promise of September and he was inclined to believe that this latter was simply a spur. He was of the opinion that elections would be followed by a period of quiet to permit conditions to readjust themselves and it would be January 1st before definite and substantial improvement would be noticed.

The board of directors was re-elected.

UNITED STATES

Asks Equality for the American Citizens

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A letter from Secretary Root to Mr. Jacob Schiff of New York was made public here today dealing with the attitude of the government in securing equality of treatment for American citizens visiting Russia and also explaining the government's position in the case of John Janoff Poren, the Russian refugee now detained in New York city by the federal courts. Mr. Root's letter brings up for the first time that the United States has asked Russia for a complete revision and amendment of the treaty of 1822 which provides for rights of residence and travel on the parts of the citizens of the two countries.

THAW'S COUNSEL

Appeals From Decision of Court

PITTSBURG, Oct. 21.—Former Gov. Steen of Pittsburgh, attorney for Harry Thaw, today took an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals from the decision of Judge Young yesterday in which the court dismissed the writ of habeas corpus to bring Thaw to Pittsburgh to testify in bankruptcy proceedings.

The judges sitting in the court of appeals for this circuit are: George M. Dallas, George Grey and Joseph H. Ruffin. It is not known when the case will be heard.

SEVERAL KILLED

Houses Wrecked by Tornado in El Paso

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 21.—One person was killed and 15 injured and much property was destroyed by a tornado at Tucuman, N. M., last night. J. Owens' residence was blown over and his eight-year-old daughter was crushed to death. Many buildings were blown down. At Hafford a number of houses were wrecked and two persons were killed. An area of sixty miles was swept bare by the storm.

BIG FIRE

DESTROYED ELEVATOR AT DENVER TODAY

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Firemen at the corner of the building destroyed the elevator of the Baurier Mills Co. today, causing a loss of $10,000. The elevator was stored with three barrels of powder, which was consumed.

AT ST. PETER'S

HOLY NAME SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY EVENING

A meeting of St. Peter's Holy Name society will be held tomorrow evening in the Fair Hall. After the meeting a drill in preparation for the parade in Boston will be held. Since the parade has been postponed St. Peter's society has taken hold of the matter with an enthusiasm that indicates a number of members. The society has been very active in the past and has been unable to hold all the members of the Holy Name society that such interest was never manifested in any function as in the forthcoming parade and a bright future for this society.

LOANS WERE PAID

Testimony at the Morse and Curtis Trial

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Before the trial of Charles W. Morse and Alfred Curtis on charges of violation of the national banking laws and conspiracy in their conduct of the bank of North America was resumed today. U. S. District Attorney Stinson denied the published assertion that George Sheldon, treasurer of the national republican committee had been a member of one of the pools in New York. "His name had never appeared in connection with this case in any way," said Mr. Stinson. "So far as I know he was never connected with any pool or with Morse."

The first witness examined today was John Fenzler an accountant and examiner of the federal department of justice who testified in great detail. Loans to W. M. Oiler, president of the American bank company were among those examined. The witness also described the loan made to John E. Carroll, the banker, who appeared on the books to have borrowed $22,000 from the bank. The witness said this loan originated a subsequent loan to Davidson Brown, a clerk in the brokerage firm of Primrose and Braun.

It appeared from Mr. Fenzler's testimony that Mr. Carroll either paid his loan or in some way cancelled them. When the Davidson Brown loan was closed in 1906 three other loans took place on the bank's books. The first loans to the bank from these loans and from these made to Leslie Whiting also a clerk employed by Primrose and Braun were $65,555 if the bank got the interest due, the witness said.

"A loan to Miss Wilson, Mr. Morse's secretary, was closed in February, 1906, by a demand note on K. T. Goshen. It previously has been shown that Mrs. Goshen's loan was invested in the stock and was closed after Mrs. Goshen had made a profit of $35,000."

The Calvin Austin loan of $104,000 which had been mentioned in earlier testimony was according to Mr. Fenzler closed out by a $51,000 demand loan to R. M. Thompson, a $27,000 demand loan to J. A. Schleicher and a credit charge on the stock and bond account of the bank of $27,500. The Schleicher loan was paid in the following May with interest.

FILES DEMURRER SHE IS STARVING

To Indictment in the Woman Once Was a Society Leader

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Rebecca E. Mitchell, daughter of Dr. Richard S. Nathan, second president of Hobart college, and widow of a once wealthy merchant of this city, has been accused by friends of her former days after being found starving and destitute in a vacant lot in Brightwood, a suburb of Washington.

Pride and sensitiveness came near to causing the death of Mrs. Mitchell. Her friends tried to find a home for her, but she refused. "I belong to one of the first families of Washington. I have gone in the best of social circles, and I will never enter an institution or home. All I want is a chance to work," she said.

They lost sight of her. For ten days she wandered the streets of Washington, seeking work. Last Wednesday she made her way to Brightwood, three miles from the city. There exhaustion overcame her. She crawled through an alley to a vacant lot and lay down to die.

Sergeant Murphy heard her moaning as he made his rounds at midnight. He found her half-dead lying on an ash heap, roused her and she cried, "Help, I'm starving." The policeman took her to the station house, where she was given warm food and a comfortable bed and the next morning her friends took her in charge.

Mrs. Mitchell's husband was once a well known merchant in Washington. One day his firm failed, and he, the head of the house, died a few months later. Mrs. Mitchell had a comfortable life in her own name, but she used her money to pay her husband's debts. She had a position as scrub woman in the patent office, but she was creeped on and she had to make way for younger and stronger women.

AS DESERTER

MAN SAID TO BE CHARLES MAGNUS ARRESTED

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—A man who says he is Charles J. Magnus and who claims to be the husband of Miss Ada Gorman, second daughter of the late U. S. Senator Gorman, is in jail here today charged with being a deserter from the United States army.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—There was a long discussion at today's session of the annual meeting of the American Association of Public Accountants on methods of accounting. The discussion followed a paper on the subject prepared by A. L. Dickson of New York, who favored the English method of having public accountants appointed by stockholders or corporations rather than by directors, as directors could suppress an unfavorable report.

COL. TAYLOR

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 21.—A Tennessee death says that Col. R. Z. Taylor has arrived at that place safe and sound. He escaped from the night riders, he says, after they had fired five hundred shots at him.

Odd Fellows' Block in Manchester Damaged by Fire

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 21.—The remarkable escape of 250 people, mostly young girls, attending a reception given by dancing teachers in a hall on the third floor of the Odd Fellows block on Hanover street, was the feature of a fire that damaged that structure, one of the principal business blocks of the city, last night, to the extent of $60,000. The fire had started on the ground floor in a cleaning establishment, worked up the rear of the building and had suddenly filled the hall with smoke before it was discovered. Despite the interruption, there was no panic. Everyone moved quickly but in an orderly manner for the elevators and stairways. Before the first of them could leave the building there was a loud explosion and all the

THREE PERISHED IS NOT GUILTY

Lives of 100 Persons Man Was Accused of Imperilled by Fire

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Three persons were burned to death and the lives of 100 tenants of a six-story tenement on East Third street were imperilled in a fire that broke out in the building shortly before 1 o'clock this morning. The flames, starting on the ground floor, spread rapidly through the structure and the fire escapes were soon congested with panic-stricken tenants. An explosion in the basement added to the panic. No one was injured by it, however. Shortly afterward firemen sent to the top floor, found three persons dead, who had evidently been caught in the hallway by the flames.

PRICES OF YARN

CONTINUE TO SHOW UPWARD TREND

The cotton yarn market shows further strength and a steady broadening demand. Dealers are taking more yarns and are paying better prices than they did a few weeks ago. Both knitters and weavers have placed further orders for nearby deliveries, and considerable business is reported to have been turned down by spinners who are not willing to accept orders for delivery next year on the present price basis. Reports from other markets show that an improvement has also taken place, and that prices are stronger and the demand larger than it was. There are still some irregularities reported in this market, but they are by means as pronounced as they were, and dealers are not so anxious now to let go of their stocks at low figures. Several efforts have been made in the past few days to cover requirements for next year at the present market quotations, but most spinners have refused to hook orders on that basis. Reports from the various knitting mills in the country show that they have sufficient business on hand to keep their plants running full for the balance of the season. This means that further supplies of yarn will be needed in the immediate future, while at the same time, buyers are already in the market for the purpose of covering future needs. Shipments claim that they have already booked too many orders at prices below the actual cost of production, and that all business taken now and for the future, must be at a profit to the spinner.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The following are feasts of the week: Today, St. Ursula and companion; Thursday, St. Mary Salome; Friday, the Most Holy Eucharist; Saturday, St. Raphael, the Archangel. Next Sunday is the 20th after Pentecost.

It is directed that all the people of the archdiocese will receive Holy Communion one week from next Sunday in order to be in a state of grace during the week of the centennial celebration, and to make a good beginning for the next hundred years of Catholicity in this section of the land. On that day the Holy Name societies of the various Lowell Catholic parishes will receive communion in a body.

RING QUITTERS

Some are Serious and Some Comic

"Paint heart never won fair lady," remarked one of those old time songsters during the days when John L. Sullivan was champion. Perhaps he was right—'I'm no authority on such affairs, but when it comes to 'faint heart' never won fair purses," here goes for a few words.

Quitters—there have been scores of them in the ring, some big and some small. Some of the best stories in the list are told of those on whom fame never smiled, and some are told on champions.

Butting Nelson, himself the gamest of fighters, had an experience with a colored brother in Hot Springs which is classic. Nelson was matched to fight this champion water-bug, and the latter was only a feather weight. In the first two rounds the colored gent knocked But down faster than two men could pick him up. Visions of chicken and possum were floating through the mind of the gent from Alabama, and he was loud in his joy.

"Come home, you money," he'd yell as he'd sweat the poor battler a crack on the jaw. "Liza needs a new pair of shoes, and here goes to get 'em."

Dinge Jumps the Ropes

But Nelson kept on boring in, and the con began to turn white. Gradually the vision of new shoes and chicken floated away, and life began to be a serious problem. At last he jumped over the ropes and made a bee-line for his dressing room.

Colonel Andy Mulligan, manager of the club, intercepted him.

"Come back and fight," yelled Mulligan.

"Mistah Mulligan, I've done better enough," replied the colored man, emphatically. "Ah won't fight but white man no 'no." Yo-all kaint hurt him wia no 'no."

"Ah-ha, then," answered Mulligan with his fine Irish scorn. "You are willing to go down the street and have people point to you and say 'there goes a quitter.'"

"Ah sure am," yelled the fellow. "Ah'd rather they see me walking down the street and say 'dere goes a quitter,' than have them look down into my face in a coffin and say 'don't he look like a quitter?'"

They tell another story about a man fighting at Mulligan's club. Before the fight was started a friend approached the fighter and started to talk about his condition.

"Are you're right, Bill," he asked. "If you're right, Ah'm going to bet the whole wash line on you."

His Confidence Was Intense

"Go to me, pal," said the fighter, confidentially. "Ah'm in de pink ob condition, and Ah'll win, sure."

The fight continued.

"Ise tell you, jest how good Ah'm this night. Yo' knows that elder brother ob mine. Well, he's dead, and Ah'm a-goin' to fight disahere man till my dead brother comes back."

Bill began to swing his. In the third he hunc out signs of distress and in the fourth hunted for a spot.

In the fifth he got ready to jump the ropes.

His gambling friend was panic-stricken. Rushing to the ringside, he yelled:

"Don't yo' quit Bill. Don't yo' quit. Yo' knows what all yo' told me about dat dead brother. Stick, Bill, stick," he pleaded.

Bill, in his dazed way, turned around. "Mistah man, Ah told you I'd fight disahere man till my dead brother come back, didn't I?" he asked.

"Yo' sure did, Bill," answered his friend.

"Then," yelled Bill in triumph, "it's all over. Ise done. Through dese stars I'm a-gettin' ah can see my brother a-comin' here with a return ticket."

"Stars and Gloves"

Tommy Peltz was fighting Mississippi, the so-called "Sippi" all over the ring and "Sippi" wanted to quit. He wasn't landing a blow. At the end of the fifth round he staggered back to his corner and began mumbling.

Sam Bolen, his chief second, tried to talk gameness into him.

"What's de matter, 'Sippi'?" asked Sam. "Kaint you fight no bettah than that?"

"Sam, Ise all done," said 'Sippi. "It's time to any man to stop when he can't see nothin' but stars and gloves." Two Gans pulled off a historic quitting affair in New York when he fought Frank Erno the first time. Erno cut Gans over the eye and kept jabbing his left hand into the wound. The negro claimed to be blinded. Keeling over to Charley White, the referee, he yelled:

"Mistah White, yo'll have to stop this fight. Ise blind, and Ah can't see no mo'."

White stopped the fight, and Gans straightened up and walked to his corner as straight as a string.

The A. A. Comedians

They have a funny bunch of dinges occasionally at the Armory Club. Dick Slater, Young Jack Johnson and other choice names adorn the program, and they hail from cities all over the country. It's a cinch none of them ever went running away from Boston than the South End. They are put on to amuse more than to give a lesson in exhibition, and they certainly fill the bill.

It is the most amusing thing in the world to watch these fellows take their corners, and look brave. They smile, grin, show their ivory tusks and then, well, when one happens to land a hard clout on the other the expression changes. I think the fellow who goes by the name of Jack Johnson can wear the most bodiless look of agony and "I-wanter-get-outta-here" of any man on earth. The only thing that keeps the jokes in the ring is the fact that all prizes are withheld if they quit.

Walcott and Lavigne

Joe Walcott, when he was champion welter weight, wanted to get out of the ring in front of Kid Lavigne. Walcott could hardly blame Walcott, for the demon Lavigne was the original Battling Nelson, and it was a mighty discouraging thing to attempt to fight him. After the first battle, Walcott was so badly used up that he stayed indoors for several days. Walcott and Lavigne had a strong personal regard for each other despite their terrific ring battles, and the Kid, passing Joe's house, dropped in.

"Come right in, Mistah Lavigne," yelled Joe. Then, rushing into another room, he produced a little Walcott.

"Chile, yo' come right in yere, and meet a friend of mine. Look on him carefully, for 'fother nighs he came mighty near to makin' yo' an orphan."

VERLINDEN COMING

TO COMPETE IN NEW YORK RACE

According to advices from abroad it is not certain that Ruit and Stul, winners of the last New York six day race, will be seen in the grid this year. L'Auto says that the German and Hollander are still discussing the proposition offered them by Promoter P. T. Powers. The same source of information announces positively that Brocco, Labrousse, Dupre, Leon Georget, Faber and Lafourcade have been engaged. Verlinden and Vanhouwer, the Belgian riders, also are spoken of. Although very young, Verlinden is regarded as the coming man in Belgium. Recently he is expected to break the world's unpaired four record, and only missed it by little over 10 yards.

BROCKTON WON

SALEM WAS DEFEATED IN CLOSE GAME

BROCKTON, Oct. 21.—With a parade through the streets of the city, headed by a band and an address by Rev. Edward Gilmore, who put the first ball into play, the National Polo season was opened in this city last night. Brockton, winning from Salem, 5 to 3. The visitors had two Brockton amateurs on their line up, in place of Jason and Devin, who have not as yet joined the team. Woods, the Brockton half back, was knocked out by being hit on the jaw with a ball, but was able to resume play after ten minutes. The summary:

BROCKTON	Position	SALEM
Lincoln	ruck	Lucy
Murray	runner	Higgins
Miller	center	Payne
Woods	halfback	McCarthy
Cusick	goal	Tibbitts

Score—Brockton 5, Salem 3. Stops—Tibbitts 64, Cusick 32. Referee—Ostlick. Timer—Bernard.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

The large number of fatal accidents due to crossing railway tracks at the wrong time has suggested all kinds of remedies. The warning noises of an approaching train are so similar to the usual noise of the automobile that they cannot be depended upon for the safety which the horse drawn vehicle may have, and the speed of approach is no much greater that the car driver is further handicapped. There is one way which seems both safe and simple. The car should be driven up to within a few feet of the track and stopped; then prospects of danger can hardly be overlooked, and the car can proceed across the tracks or wait for the train to pass before doing so. No better warning than the Stop, Look, and Listen signs at some of the railway crossings could be devised for automobiles.

There will be no German automobile exhibition this year. The federation of German Manufacturers has decided to organize an exhibition before December 1, 1909, and has confirmed that decision despite the German imperial Automobile club's request to the contrary. It is probable that the next exhibition will be held at Frankfurt instead of at Berlin.

As a result of the negotiations conducted by the Automobile club of Buffalo with S. W. McMichael, chief inspector of Canadian customs, members of the club are now permitted to go into Canada without putting up a bond. All that is necessary is to present a 1905 membership card, which will permit a stay of three days in the Dominion. Of course it will be necessary for each Buffalo motorist to take out the Ontario motor vehicle license, but in doing away with the bond the club is saving each of its members from $5.00 to $5 a year.

The "Tour Around the World" which was part of the Montclair Automobile carnival some time ago proved such a success that a similar trip is to be given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. in the towns of Chatham, Madison and Morristown. Many prominent residents of Morris county will throw open their homes, and each one will be decorated to represent six important cities of the world. The residence of Calvin F. Wheeler of Chatham will represent Washington, D. C.; C. M. Decker's home will be decorated to represent Yokohama, Japan; the home of L. B. Tompkins of Morristown will be turned into a typical residence of Constantinople. Here the Arabian horses owned by Homer Davenport will be shown to the tourists. The next house will represent Berlin, Germany. This will be located at the residence of F. C. Blanchard at Morristown. James H. McGraw will decorate his estate so that the visitors will imagine they are in the heart of Spain. The last stop will take the tourists to the capital of China, which will be represented at the home of James M. Gifford. Herbert Strong, who is managing the carnival, has assurance of the co-operation of the dealers and private owners of automobiles, so that there will be no dearth of motor cars to carry the travellers around the fifteen mile course.

Many motorists have considerable trouble keeping their gasoline tank outlet clean, as sometimes waste or cotton stuff may gather in the outlet or between the outlet and the tank valve, so that it must be poked out from above or below. If the filling plug is directly over the tank outlet it is easy, with the aid of a flashlight and a stiff straight piece of wire to push the obstruction downward after disconnecting the gasoline pipe below the tank valve.

Crawford

Heating Boilers

Steam and Hot Water

The peculiar fact about the new "Crawford" and "Walker" heating boilers is that they heat where others fail. They are a gilt-edge investment for those who want heat and plenty of it at the minimum of expense and care. The "Heat Ribs" cast on the interiors of these boilers are found in no others.

MARVIN HART

WON HIS BOUT WITH TWIN SULLIVAN LAST NIGHT

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Marvin Hart of Louisville, Ky., and Jack (Twin) Sullivan of Cambridge, made a poor exhibition of the main bout of the boxing at the Armory Athletic association last night, the fight being finally awarded to Hart in the fifth round on a foul.

DIAMOND NOTES

There will be something doing when the annual league meeting takes place. Worcester loses six men this year. They are Owens, Barberich, Blackburn and McCune. John Carney will hardly come back to Haverhill unless he has lost his graft in Trenton, N. J. McInnis was drafted by Jersey City but was not allowed. Providence will not get the player either. Joe Knotts, the old Worcester player, has been drafted by Buffalo. Red Callahan, the old Haverhill player, goes to Jersey City. Frank Chance, manager of the three-time champions of the National league, twice champions of the world, believes that the Cubs will win two pennants again next year. Members of the National Baseball commission, including Dan Johnson, Harry C. Follen and Harry Herndon, will have to appear in the district court because Joseph B. Tinker shortstop with the Cubs, failed to pay

GOOD BOWLING

Plenty of Sport on the Alleys

Teams One and Two of Company G rolled on the Crescent alleys last night, and the latter team proved to be the victor. Lawler of the vanquished team was high man.

In the A. G. Pollard league the Palmer Street department put it all over the Drapery department. The work of J. Burns was instrumental in scoring the victory.

Two teams of young ladies from the Bon Marche rolled on the Bridge street bowling last night and the team captained by Miss Murray won.

The Majestics defeated the Lowells in a game of the Merrimack Valley Duck Pin league on the Crescent alleys last night. The work of O'Brien was the feature of the evening.

In the Catholic league, the C. M. A. C. defeated the St. John's of North Chelmsford by a margin of 51 pins.

WEALTHY MAN

WEDS GIRL WHO NURSED HIM BACK TO HEALTH

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—To the "Love Receipts" so familiar in the street cars another jingle must be added, because George F. Schrafft, the wealthy chocolate manufacturer, taking a receipt all his own, has won the heart of the handsome nurse, Bertha Brown, who nursed him through typhoid fever. She has just returned from his wedding trip, and in consequence has given his friends, who had no inkling of his surrender to the charms of the feminine sex, a big surprise.

The wedding took place very quietly last Thursday in Somerville, and not even William Schrafft, the groom's brother, knew of the romance that had waxed strong beneath the same roof with him.

Accompanied only by his chauffeur, George Schrafft slipped away to Warren street, Medford, the home of Miss Brown, and returned with her to Somerville, where they were married at a minister's residence.

Then the chauffeur took them to the South station, where they embarked for New York. After the happy couple had started the chauffeur, armed with a hat, broke the news to William Schrafft, who was at the office of the firm, utterly oblivious of the wedding.

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

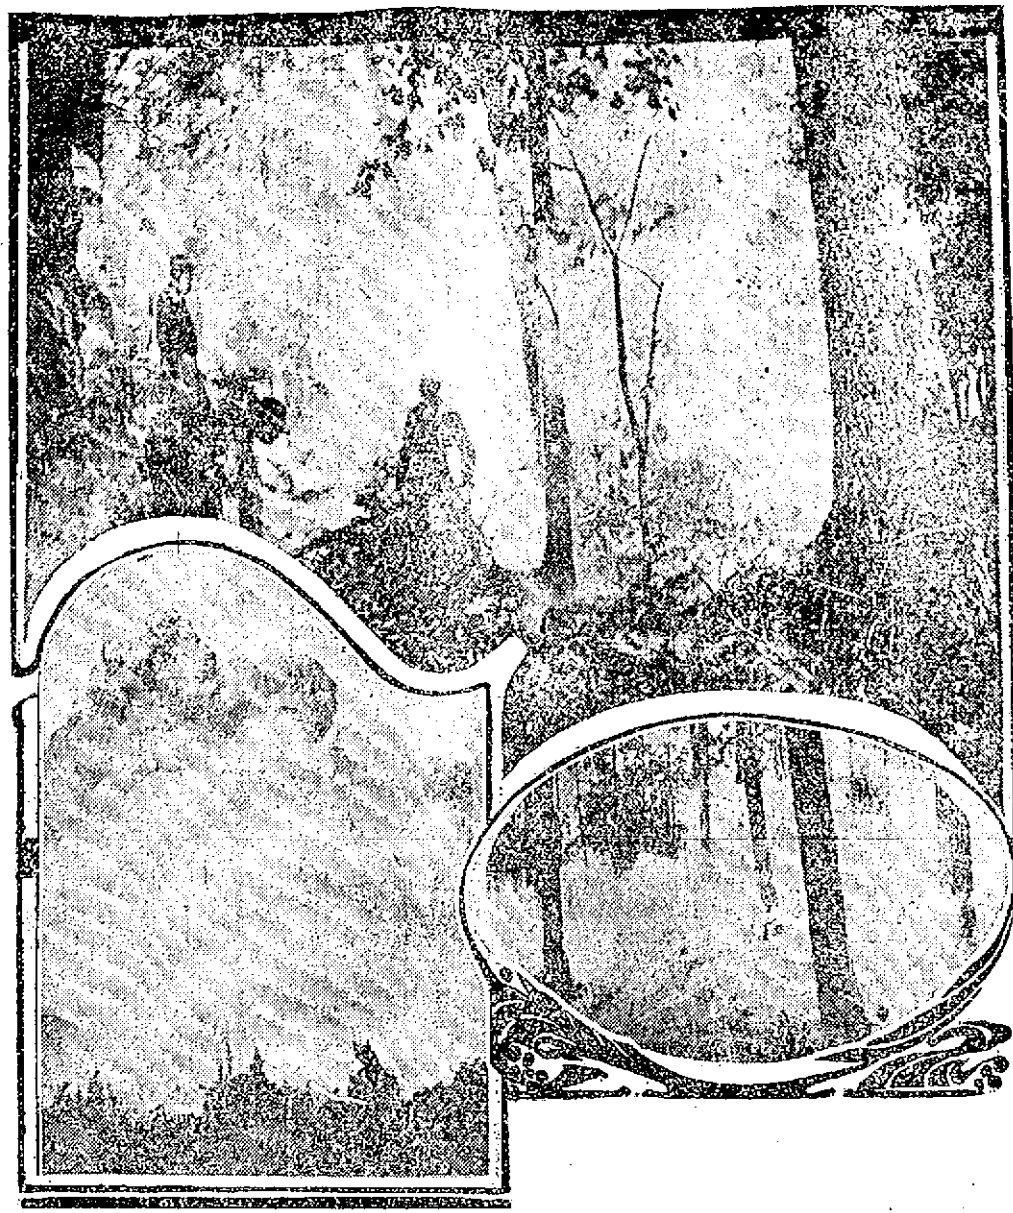

Held Monthly Meeting at Kirk Street Church

The Women's association of the Kirk street church held its regular monthly meeting in the church parlor yesterday.

Study of the text book, "The Nearer and Farther East," was begun with Mrs. J. A. Stevens in charge. Papers were read by several of the women, among them being "The Life of Mohammed," written by Miss Alice Richardson and read by Miss Mabel Harvey. "The Night of Ismail" was the subject of a paper given by Mrs. Frank Knowlton.

Miss Chapin of the Y. W. C. A. gave a short address during the meeting and Miss Eveleth sang several pleasing songs.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostesses, Mrs. J. A. Stevens, Mrs. A. D. Sargent, Mrs. C. E. Hoxie and Mrs. Wm. H. Spaulding.

THE IRISH PARTY BIG FOREST FIRES DEPORTED GIRL

To Push Question of Land Legislation

DUBLIN, Oct. 21.—A meeting of the Irish National party, under the presidency of John E. Redmond, was held here yesterday to devise plans to force the government to push the question of Irish land legislation in the house of commons.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the American people for generous financial support of the party.

MATRIMONIAL

Miss Lucy Lee Tingley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Tingley of Tewksbury, was united in marriage yesterday to Mr. John Sadler Watson, son of Mrs. Mary S. Watson of Hartford, Conn. The ceremony took place in the Congregational church and the marriage was performed by Rev. T. G. Langdale.

To the strains of the wedding march, Miss Teresa Small at the organ, the bride entered alone, preceded however by the ushers, Dr. Carl C. McCollison, Mr. Robert Gay and Mr. Arthur Fairgrieve, and by the maid of honor, Miss Amy Tingley, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid, Miss Beatrice Dinmore. She was followed by the ring bearers, Miss Christina M. Brown and Master Benj. A. Kittredge, and the charming little flower girl, Miss Elizabeth M. Brown. The ring bearers carried calla lilies, in the cups of which rested the rings.

The bride was attired in white silk, batiste, en train; she wore a veil of tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore pale blue, and the bridesmaid pale pink silk muslin, both carrying chrysanthemums. During the ceremony, Schumann's beautiful "Traumerei" was rendered by the organ. As the bridal party left the church, the flower girl strewed petals in the path of the bride, and they drove away amid the usual shower of confetti.

After the wedding a reception was given to a few relatives and friends. The gifts were very numerous and beautiful. The bridegroom's gifts to the ushers were scarf pins; to the maid of honor and bridesmaid, pins; to the ring girl and flower girl, each, a ring; and to the ring boy, a watch.

300 DRILL

Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Church

The members of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church, began drilling last evening for the parade which is to be held in Boston on November 1.

About 300 men turned out, and marched practically all over the parish. Following the drill an entertainment was given in the school hall, which consisted of the following program: Songs, William E. Brady; song, Timothy Behan; recitations, Francis Dresser; song, Michael Hession; song, Peter Clune; address, Rev. Fr. Curtin. The piano accompaniments were given by Arthur McDermott.

The drilling will be kept up tonight and tomorrow evening.

The Most Disastrous in Twenty-Five Years

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Following the forest fire horrors in Michigan, where many lives were lost and millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed, there was a fresh outbreak of fire in the Adirondack regions of New York. Large forces of volunteers, directed by fire wardens, fought the flames day and night to save various towns and settlements. Paper mills and other factories at several points suspended operations and sent their men into the woods to aid in checking the fires. Fire also swept western Massachusetts in the region of the famous October mountain game preserve. Vast trunks of timber were destroyed in Connecticut. Pennsylvania state police fought the flames for days in the neighborhood of Bradford. Reports from hundreds of places between the great lakes and the Atlantic coast show the most disastrous fires in twenty-five years.

"OUR IDEAL"

SUBJECT OF REV. ABBE VILLANDRE'S TALK

In St. Joseph's college last night, the Rev. Abbe Villandre, rector of the French-American parish of North Attleboro, delivered a very able discourse on "Our Ideal." The lecturer is one of the most forcible French speakers in New England and his address was at the public installation of the French-American Federation. His subject related to the ideal of American citizenship as well as of national progress to be pursued by American citizens of French origin.

Other speakers on the evening's program, who were heard in very brief speeches, were Rev. Joseph Campana, O. M. I., who acted as installing officer; Maxime Lenoir, retiring president, who opened the assembly; Horace E. Caron, president-elect, and Dr. A. G. Payette, master of ceremonies.

Besides the speaking, there were some pleasing musical selections. Mr. Jos. A. Bernard played the piano and the Cercle d'Yerville choir sang two choruses. Misses Maria Pratte and Georgianna Desrosiers were the soloists, and Miss Cora Phaneuf the accompanist.

The officers installed were: President, Horace E. Caron; first vice-president, Frederic Giroux; second vice-president, J. J. Cinq-Mars; recording secretary, Joseph L. Lamoureux; treasurer, Joseph Carrier; corresponding secretary, L. V. Nole; assistant corresponding secretary, J. S. Lippe; executive board, Dr. J. I. Lamoureux, dean, Elzear H. Choquette. The garde d'honneur, commanded by Lieut. Albert E. Jean, did escort duty in the installation, and the A. G. Cadets served as ushers.

Is Happy With Her Cigarettes

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—With 100 American cigarettes, $50 and some new clothing, Irene Babruva, the 16-year-old Russian girl who was rescued from a band of gypsies in West Roxbury, was deported yesterday on the Saxonia, smiling and happy with her gifts. Irene had confessed that she liked to smoke and said she found an example in many American women who smoked in public as well as others who smoked in their homes. A Boston literary man heard her say this and made her a present of the cigarettes which she valued almost as much as the $50 and clothing that kind-hearted Boston people had contributed to her.

Irene is going back to her home in Kursk, where she hopes to find her mother, from which she was stolen nearly a year ago.

The story of the girl's wrongs led to the arrest of Gregory Radulavitch, the chief of the tribe. He was sentenced to 18 months in the Charles street jail, and as soon as he is released he, with his son Stephen, will be deported unless their attorneys succeed with their appeal to the immigration authorities at Washington. The leaderless tribe is now at Bergen, N. Y. Yavas Kaljian, a pretty Armenian girl, was also deported on the Saxonia. She came to America in August and was claimed as a wife by M. Krikorian, who is a distant relative of the girl. She was found to be afflicted with trachoma. Her alleged husband was also found to have a wife already in Newburyport, and yesterday in the United States district court he pleaded guilty to perjury. Sentence was suspended for a week.

SECOND LECTURE

GIVEN BY REV. GEORGE F. KENN. GOTT

In the auditorium of the First Trinitarian church last night, the second in the series of six lectures was given by the pastor, Rev. George F. Kenn. The attendance was large and the lecture was highly enjoyed. The subject was on Switzerland, in and about Zermatt, Geneva and Interlaken and was treated in a delightful manner by the lecturer. His word pictures of the many places added much to the evening's pleasure. The views which were shown on the canvas were clear and carried one through the numerous interesting and beautiful scenes to be found in this land of the Alps.

TO GROUND WIRES

Telephone Co. Wants Use of Water Pipes

The water board and the New England Telephone and Telegraph company are at odds over the latter's proposition to ground its telephone wires on the city's water pipes and has decided to seek legal aid to establish its right to do so.

An interesting conference on the matter took place at city hall last evening between the members of the water board and Cameron DeWitt Jarvis, consulting electrical engineer for the telephone company.

The water board appeared willing to allow the company to ground its wires on the water pipes provided that the company will file an indemnity bond with the department to protect the department against any accident which may occur as a result of the grounding of wires on water pipes.

It appeared to be the position of the telephone company that it had a right to so ground its wires irrespective of the wishes of the water board and without the formality of protecting the water board. Mr. Jarvis said that it was impossible to conceive of anybody being hurt because of the transmission of electricity through water pipes.

FINE PROGRAM

AT FIRST MEETING OF JOHN ELIOT LITERARY SOCIETY

The winter sessions of the John Eliot Literary society opened most auspiciously last night, starting a complete study of Ireland in all its phases, physical, geographical, mental and political.

The session of last night was at the home of Lester C. Flemings in Parkview avenue. The night's particular subject was "A Tour Through Ireland," Miss Clara B. Horne had charge of the program and told an interesting story of her own experiences and observations during a trip through the Emerald Isle.

Mrs. Adelaide Forrest told of her visit to Dublin and Mrs. Charles S. Proctor covered Belfast and Londonderry. Miss Hattie Wakenfeld gave the current events as concerned Ireland and also told entertainingly of Irish wit and humor. Mrs. Charles Flemings and Mrs. W. J. Blake served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10 at the home of Harvey B. Greene, 13 Marlboro street, when Irish legends and folk lore will be discussed. Mrs. J. A. Faulkner will have charge of the program.

Shall we ever have another summer so beautiful, so rare so loth to part?

GOV. HUGHES' CHANCES.

Should Governor Hughes be elected in New York it will be an indication that there is a public sentiment against gambling. There are many who believe that the people of New York rather like the gambling habit. Even republicans admit the state is in doubt. It may constitute the nucleus of the Bryan landslide.

OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED BY EVENING SCHOOLS.

Now that the evening schools are open the youth who had to leave school on graduating from the grammar school, or perhaps before, has a splendid opportunity of improving his education.

Even those who went farther than the grammar school can take up supplementary courses at the evening schools with profit.

Many grammar school graduates are woefully deficient in their knowledge of grammar and English. That is a branch in which they can learn perhaps more easily in the evening than in the day schools.

The evening drawing schools also afford a splendid opportunity to those who are mechanically inclined to train the eye and the hand. There is scarcely any business one can enter in which a practical knowledge of drawing will not be very useful.

The youth of foreign birth will not miss the advantages offered by instruction in the evening schools. They appreciate these schools because they never enjoyed any such opportunities in their own land.

A WORD TO DEMOCRATS.

Two weeks from yesterday will be held the state and national elections, and yet there has not been the sign of a rally in Lowell. Where, oh where, are the torchlight parades of former days? Perhaps the funds necessary to produce such pageants are lacking.

The republican party has not received so much from the trusts this year as formerly, not nearly so much as when Mark Hanna was the fat fryer.

There is no enthusiasm for the republican ticket, and Bryan is wisely wasting none of his energy looking after such hide-bound states as Massachusetts.

In regard to the state campaign, it is also unusually quiet. Yet the democratic party should unite its forces in support of the ticket and to defeat the hopes of that political mountebank Hearst, whose aim is wherever possible to defeat democratic candidates and to show political strength where that is not possible.

Let it be remembered that a vote given to Hearst's league is a vote thrown away and the same may be said of the socialist party.

Democrats of Lowell should stand loyally by their ticket and remember particularly that Rep. O'Donnell is candidate for senator and should be supported as a young man who would honor his city and his district.

Mr. Vahey, the democratic nominee for governor, is a bright young man of clean record. He is making a lively campaign against considerable odds and deserves well at the hands of his party.

GRASPING AT STRAWS.

Various Taft organs are coming out with a charge that is wholly groundless, to the effect that Taft is to be opposed by the Catholic church west of the Alleghenies because of something he did, the nature of which is not stated.

This is an appeal to prejudice, pure and simple, and it is a republican ruse to save Taft. There is good ground for believing that there is absolutely no foundation for the story.

The Catholic church has not spoken, and it is neither for Taft nor for Bryan. There is as much difference among Catholics on the merits of the two men and of the parties they represent, as among any other religious body in the country.

The republican candidate is opposed not because of anything he has done personally, for, considered as a public man, a lawyer and a judge, Mr. Taft stands high. The chief fault to be found with him is that he is running on a trust platform and that he is Roosevelt's candidate.

If the Catholic church adopted a policy antagonistic to any candidate or any principle, that policy would be operative all over the country and not alone in any section thereof. The fact that even those who put out the report locate it in the region of the Alleghenies, thereby show how absurd is the fabrication. It is a silly, clumsy lie, and it is but an indication of the extremes to which the republican organs are driven when they resort to such tactics.

That report is published here as coming from the west. In the west, no doubt, the same will be published as coming from the east, but nowhere in the east, the west, the north or the south is there any foundation for the story. It is an appeal to the prejudice of the republicans who are deserting Taft. It can be compared only with the effort of a drowning man to save himself by grasping at a straw.

SEEN AND HEARD

Joseph Pettigall has been in town. Perhaps there are those who do not know Mr. Pettigall, but the old printers—who were working at the case in Manchester twenty and twenty-five years ago—know him. Mr. Pettigall used to work in the Union office before the Linotype machines came into use. He was a type when Jack Gunn was on deck, when Henry Richard was in the job office, and when Fred Manson picked the nonpareil from the little boxes. "Whisk" Pitt was a gay youth from the country, and J. Russ Brown was a director in the office of the Suncook. "Thunderer," "One Eyed" Jones held down slug six, and Tom Hopkins was a terror over in the corner of the composing room. Dave Cobb, who recently died, was on earth, and Bob Kelley was the paymaster. Nearly all of the above are dead and gone. There are a few of them left, and hardly any of them knew the soft-spoken man with a white mustache who bobbed into the office and said "How do do." They used to have a lot of fun with Pettigall in the old days—days that have gone never to return. Nearly all the old boys are dead.

Pettigall stopped picking type when the machines came in, and he is now working in a cotton mill in Lowell—Manchester Union.

Mrs. Hooper Mallet of Montreal, the Mazdaznan enthusiast who was a guest of Mrs. Ellen M. Shaw recently, and whose name has appeared in connection with the conservative proceedings, gave an interview to the Montreal Daily Witness, under the date of October 15. From it are culled the following interesting statements regarding the Mazdaznan beliefs:

"We worship God, but we accept no book as an infallible guide. We recognize all books in their places. That is, we recognize the value of the Koran, all of the Bible, and the Christian Bible. We recognize Christ, but only as one of the great teachers. Zoroaster was the first of these great teachers; Buddha and Mahomet were others; Christ, who came last, was the greatest. Mazdaznan interferes with nobody's religion."

"But you have your own temples and religious ceremonies?"

"Yes, but we have no salaries, no professional teachers or preachers. Every teacher must earn his own living first by doing his share of the world's work."

"We have a beautiful temple in Chicago, but it is the private property of Dr. Hanih."

"No—at Montreal? We have no idea of erecting one at present. As to the statements that Mrs. Shaw has given money for the purpose, that is false. All that she has done is to place $100 as a contribution toward a temple in Montreal."

"Only two, my husband and myself; but we often have meetings here in our drawing room and explain the principles of Mazdaznan to our friends."

"I think that a temple is to be erected in Montreal?"

"No—at Montreal? We have no idea of erecting one at present. As to the statements that Mrs. Shaw has given money for the purpose, that is false. All that she has done is to place $100 as a contribution toward a temple in Montreal."

"All the land we have bought is land on which to build our own home."

An effort is being made to secure Rev. Fr. McGuire, S. J. of Boston, an eloquent temperance speaker, to come to Lowell this winter.

A pleasing incident is brought to light by the appointment of officers in the high school regiment and it is the first time in the history of the regiment that it has happened. Joseph F. Cahan has been chosen lieutenant colonel for the year, while his brother, Leo D. Cahan served in the same capacity last year.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VALUE IN WASTE LANDS.
Boston Herald: Practical forestry in Sweden, under the direction of a royal commission, resulted last year in supplying wood, lumber and other forest products to the value of $13,250,000, and yet accumulated timber resources by a growth of twelve the amount of the standing timber felled. Sweden has but 37,500 acres of forest land, but in one year alone there have been planted 5,420,000 trees, distributed over 1011 personal holdings. Appreciation of the value of a cultivated timber crop would give a new appraisal to what are now termed "waste lands" in New England.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS RULE

Johnstown Democrat: Mr. Taft's speeches, when boiled down, are the old republican "holier-than-thou" argument. He resorts to that thread-worn declaration that all the prosperity of the country has ever known has been under the protection policy! But why didn't Mr. Taft add that every panic this country has ever known developed under a republican administration?

Why didn't he add that under a protection policy we are now going through the worst panic this country has ever experienced?

Taft's claim for support is not what his party will do, but what it has done. And he isn't even candid about that. He ignores the fact that under republicanism the trust system has been built up.

The republican party has been in absolute control of the government for twelve years. Yet it has failed to give us the reforms the people demand—because plutocracy and the campaign contribution and not the people rule.

HARD TIMES AND HARD TIMES

Exchange: Republican papers are finding much comfort in the industrial depression which has become acute in Great Britain and they appear to believe that the hard times prevailing there are in some way a complete answer to those who criticize the republicans.

which are with us in the United States. But why should not our terrible panic have been injurious even beyond our own borders? How could the enormous shrinkage in our buying power have failed to affect the markets of the world? In the days of the commercial and electrically the nations of the world are knit together in commerce. What affects one country is bound to be felt in greater or less degree in all the other countries. A shock felt in the United States must be felt in the very nature of things communicated itself to all the countries with which our industrial interests are related.

A year ago one of the greatest panics in the world's history brought industrial paralysis to this country. The shock of it was felt to the uttermost ends of civilization. There was no island of the sea or remote there was no village in Russia or in China or in Germany or in England so obscure that some echo of the collapse did not reach it. There was never in the history of the world a better illustration of the truth that the injury of one is the concern of all.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mrs. A. E. Brown, for 25 years an expert in the United States treasury, has finished a task that called for exceeding patience and deftness. A roll of bank notes which had been hidden in a tin can and buried in the earth for two years was given to Mrs. Brown to examine. The money had rotted and was a little better than green-tinted pulp. She was so successful in separating the bits and deciphering the letters and figures, that practically the amount was redeemed and made good to the distressed owner, who will probably hereafter know enough to hide his money in a reliable savings bank.

Mrs. Russell Sage has bought an abandoned race track and turned it into a playground for the children of Sag Harbor, Long Island. The old track had become a wild tangle of weeds and brush. Now, under the advice of experts, it will be made into a beautiful park. The work will also be an athletic field in connection with the playground.

The Massachusetts Woman Suffrage association will hold its 39th annual meeting in Boston the 27th and 28th. Mrs. Ethel Shown, the wife of a member of parliament, a very charming woman, will speak on the evening of the 27th in Faneuil hall. On the afternoon of the 28th a reception will be given to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe at the association's headquarters at 6 Marlboro street. The other sessions will be devoted to business.

The board of directors of the Johns Hopkins Hospital Alumnae association met at a recent meeting declared itself in favor of woman suffrage.

The Women's National Trade Union League, at the three conventions held simultaneously in New York, Boston, and Chicago, passed unanimous resolutions in favor of the ballot for women. Woman suffrage has also been endorsed by the American Federation of Labor, and by the State Federations of Labor in California, Connecticut, Colorado, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon,

The upper classmen did not like the action of the intruder and so after the latter had retired the older students went to their rooms and took them from their beds and took them to the washroom below. Later the faculty met and the following suspensions for hazing were ordered: John N. Garfield, Washington, D. He was appointed a member of the board of education of the old city of Brooklyn by Mayor Low and served for eight years. He was secretary of the committee for the improvement of negroes in New York and was formerly active in republican politics, but in the present campaign was with the democratic party. Mr. Scott had achieved some success as an inventor.

ANNUAL SOCIAL

OF THE EMPLOYEES OF PILLING SHOE CO

The first annual social and dance of the employees of the Pilling Shoe company was held in Associate hall last night and despite the fact that it was the initial attempt of the employees in social work the event proved to be a success both from a social and a financial standpoint.

Music for dancing was furnished by the Calumet orchestra.

The following officers were responsible for the success of the affair:

GETS DIVORCE

MRS. HOMIE ALSO IS GIVEN $300

ALIMONY

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 21.—In the superior court yesterday Judge Robert G. Pike granted a divorce to Mrs. Abbie T. Hoxie from Joseph E. Hoxie of this city.

Mrs. Hoxie amended her libel as first filed by striking out all charges making reference to Mary F. Walker, and added charges of extreme cruelty against Mr. Hoxie. The divorce was granted on those grounds. Mr. Hoxie offering no objection. The court ordered Mr. Hoxie to pay alimony in the sum of $500, and the order was promptly complied with.

Mrs. Hoxie last year brought suit against Mrs. Walker, who is a woman of considerable wealth, alleging alienation of her husband's affection, and asking $50,000 damages. The case was bitterly contested, and after a trial lasting several days in the court at Exeter the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant. The case was carried to the supreme court and is yet undecided. The trial of the case was enhanced by repetition by witnesses of alleged conversations over the telephone between Mrs. Walker and Mr. Hoxie.

ROYAL ARCANUM

NEW COUNCIL WAS ORGANIZED

IN NASHUA

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 21.—A large number of members of the Royal Arcanum from all over New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts was present last evening at the exercises attending the institution of a new council, 1563, of that order in Knights of Malta hall, State Deputy A. F. Howell of Boston instituted the council. Mr. Howell during the past few weeks has secured 40 names of prospective members, about 30 of whom were present.

A special car from Lowell brought about 50 members, headed by Past Grand Regent A. W. Davis and A. G. Walsh and past regents of several local councils. A degree team from Lowell council exemplified the work.

A largely attended and very enthusiastic meeting of the St. John's Ladies' Auxiliary was held in St. John's hall, last evening. The various committees made their special reports. The committee in charge of the harvest party to be held tomorrow night in the town hall reported everything in readiness. It is expected that this party will excel all social events of the season. The literary committee reported that a Halloween party would be held in the hall on Friday evening, Oct. 30, for the members and also the members of the St. John's T. A. society. After the meeting a musical program was given and dancing enjoyed.

The members of the Holy Name society of St. John's parish drilled in the town hall last evening. The parish expects to send a team to Jackson three companies to take part in the parade Nov. 1. The pastor is much pleased with the progress the members are making. Another drill will be held Sunday morning at 10.30.

Henry McCoy has returned home after a long departure from the village. He was formerly employed as telegraph operator in the Boston & Maine station but the past three months he has been on duty at other stations.

GRAY ORDINANCE

MR. POORE DOES NOT APPROVE ITS PROVISIONS

Editor of The Sun:—

I see by your columns that the rights of individual citizens who are not fortunate enough to belong to a big corporation are to be taken away by the "Gray Ordinance," so-called. By this ordinance, if any poor man owning a small home wants to repair something, or dig up an old drain, or do any small job in the streets around his house, he must wait to have the hole filled up by city employees, working with their usual leisure and lack of skill.

If the local manufacturing corporations want to do something to the streets it must all be put back at their expense, by city employees. This gives an unjust preference to the over-privileged city employee over outside workmen.

Of course the Lowell Electric Light Co. and the Gaslight company must be excepted. Can't Alderman Gray search around and find a few more corporations to exempt from his ordinance while the individual taxpayer pays the bills? That ordinance ought to be defeated and so ought any alderman or councilman who votes for it. It is one of the most pernicious and unfair ordinances ever submitted to the city council and will injure and annoy every taxpayer in Lowell as well as workmen outside of the city employ.

Yours respectfully,

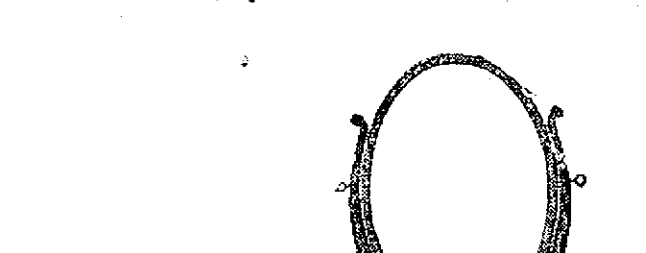

Geo. W. Poore.

IMPORTANT RULING

Made by the Supreme Court in a Medical Case

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The full bench of the supreme court yesterday, in overruling the defendant's exceptions in the case of the commonwealth vs. W. E. Ellsworth Jewell, convicted and fined $150 for practicing medicine without a license, holds there are more ways than one of practicing medicine and that it is not necessary in the practice that one must give or prescribe medicine.

The defendant sought to justify what he had done by the statute which permits a person to be a mind or body healer, a massage healer or an osteopathist.

The government's evidence tended to show that on different occasions the defendant had prescribed medicines and administered and advertised that he prescribed as a part of his treatment what he called "vitalizer," that he had been in the habit of giving what are called electric or ray baths; and that in giving what was called the stomach wash another substance other than water was given the patient. He also, it was contended, diagnosed his patients for the purpose of seeing what ailed them and prescribed treatment for them.

He also sought to have the trial judge instruct the jury to the extent of saying it was his law that practitioners of mind healing, massage and osteopathy can practice their healing "so long as they did not prescribe or deal out medicine."

The quoted portion of the request the trial judge refused to give the jury. The full bench holds Judge Crosby, the presiding judge at the trial, was right in this, it says.

"The defendant's request implied that one could not practice medicine within the meaning of the words of sec. 8, chap. 78, of the revised laws without prescribing or dealing out medicine; that is, prescribing or dealing out a substance used as a remedy for disease. It would be too narrow a view of the practice of medicine to say that it could not be engaged in in any case or class of cases otherwise than by prescribing or dealing out a substance to be used as a remedy.

"It (science or medicine) includes a knowledge not only of the functions of the organs of the human body, but also of the diseases to which these organs are subject, and of the laws of health and the modes of living which tend to avert or overcome disease, as well as the specific methods of treatment that are most effective in promoting cures."

"It is conceivable that one may practice medicine to some extent in certain classes of cases, without dealing out or prescribing drugs or other substances to be used as medicine. It is conceivable that one may do it in other ways than those practised as a part of their respective systems, by either osteopaths, pharmacists, clairvoyants or persons practicing hypnosis, magnetic healing, mind cure, massage cure, science, or the cosmopathic method of healing."

"The purpose of the statute seems to be to permit the practice of these several methods of treatment, including everything that strictly belongs to each; but not to permit the unlicensed practice of medicine otherwise. If a practice of medicine otherwise, without dealing out or prescribing drugs or other substances to be used as medicines is possible, the rulings and refusals to rule were right. We think such a practice of medicine is possible."

"There is much to indicate that the defendant not only practised medicine in other ways, but that he dealt out substances to be used as medicines, which did not apply to the practice of osteopathy, mind cure or massage."

EXTENSIVE FIRES EVENT OBSERVED

Raging in the Vicinity of Berlin

BERLIN, N. H., Oct. 21.—Although extensive forest fires were raging to the east and west of Berlin today it will be generally believed that all danger to houses in the city had been eliminated. On both sides of the river the fire was working away from the city but was not under control nor was it expected to be brought under control until a heavy growth of timber had drenched the parched and tinder-like forests.

To the westward of Berlin, Mount Forest was covered in flame and smoke. The fire in this vicinity had covered an extensive area but had not done extensive damage inasmuch as most of the territory burned over did contain a heavy growth of timber. The fire was spreading along the Ammonoosuc valley towards West Milan and scores of hunters were driven from the woods by the smoke.

Towards the east and southeast the fire was advancing rapidly and during the night crossed the Maine state boundary line. The town of Shelburne was threatened with destruction and reports from there early today indicated that many of the residents of that place were moving away on account of the fire danger. This fire has destroyed many thousands of dollars' worth of valuable timber. W. K. Aston of New York, a prominent lumber dealer, is among the heaviest individual losers in this territory, while many Berlin business men have had all of their standing timber wiped out by the flames.

Conditions in Berlin were improved today. Although the city was enveloped in smoke last night a slight breeze this morning purified the atmosphere and cleared the air so that the range of vision was more extensive than for many days.

MANCHESTER WOMAN LEFT SUM OF $10,000

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Mary A. Simons, who died Oct. 5, aged 95, left $10,500 to her coachman, Alvin Z. Wright, and $10,000 to her housekeeper, Annie C. Butterfield, both old servants.

Two sisters, Mrs. Olive Merrill and Mrs. Helen Chase of this city, are practically cut off by the will.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Geo. April of Manchester and Miss Josephine Labrie of this city were married Monday at St. Louis church, by Rev. Fr. Trudel, O. M. I. The witnesses were Messrs. Prosper Lambert and Arthur Merle. In the evening a reception took place at the home of Mr. Mercier, 23 Farmland road. The Harmon orchestra gave a concert, and a luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. April, who have received many costly gifts, will live in Manchester.

QUINLAN-BAILEY

The marriage of Mr. William H. Quinlan, the popular street railway conductor, and Miss Blanche A. Bailey took place last evening from the immaculate Conception church, Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ida Bailey, and the best man was Mr. John J. Quinlan, brother of the groom. The bride was beautifully attired in a white silk Princess gown with chiffon, while the bridesmaids wore pink tulle. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 25 Stanley street, many relatives and friends tendering their congratulations. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts. They departed on a late train for their honeymoon, which will be enjoyed in New York, and upon their return they will reside in Belvidere.

Author of "America" Born 100 Years Ago

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The 100th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Dr. Samuel Smith, author of "America," was celebrated today in Boston, where he was born, and in Newton, where he made his home for more than fifty years. In Newton flags were displayed at half-staff throughout the city and in all the public schools memorial exercises were held at which the story of the writing of the national hymn was retold at the convention. At the First Baptist church in Newton Centre, of which Dr. Smith was pastor for twelve years, the chimes which were given to the church as a memorial of Dr. Smith played "America" and in the chapel there will be an informal memorial observance this evening.

In Boston the principal public celebration was the playing of the national hymn by cornets, standing in the belfry, facing Boston common, of the Park Street church, in which edifice "America" was publicly sung for the first time on July 4, 1832.

SOME BIG GAMES

Scheduled for the Golf Tournament Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A series of interesting events were scheduled in today's program in the women's national golf championship at Chevy Chase Golf club. The principal interest centers in the competition between the sixteen survivors of yesterday's game in the second match today. Six survivors are from Boston, three from Philadelphia, two from Washington and the other five are scattered. Today's pairings in the second round match are as follows:

Mrs. E. T. Perkins, Glenview club, Chicago, vs. Mrs. Grimsby McCann, Chevy Chase club; Mrs. Grimsby, Merriam Cricket club, Philadelphia vs. Miss Oliver, Chevy Chase club; Mrs. H. St. John Smith, Portland Country club, vs. Mrs. Pulehus, Richmond Golf club; Miss Bishop, Brookline club, Bridgeport, Conn., vs. Mrs. Margery W. Phelps, Country club, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. Fox, Huntington Valley club vs. Miss Harriet Curtis, Essex Country club, Manchester, Mass.; Miss Mollie Adams, Wollaston club vs. Miss Harley, Fall River Golf club and Miss Margaret Curtis, Country club, Brookline, vs. Mrs. Barlow, Merriam Cricket club.

In addition to the champion events there will be a consolation contest for the sixteen players defeated in the first championship round. The pairings are as follows:

Mrs. Mary McCain, Chevy Chase, vs. Mrs. Dorothy Robinson, Rochester; Miss Anita Phelps, Springfield, vs. Miss Allen, Watertown; Miss First, Philadelphia; Miss Katherine Townsend, Philadelphia, vs. Mrs. Converse, West Newton; Miss H. Maule, Philadelphia vs. Miss Ellen Hood, Philadelphia; Miss Grace Sample, St. Louis, vs. Mrs. Grace Keys, Concord; Miss Louise A. Wells, Brookline, vs. Mrs. Kinney, Richmond; Mrs. York, Philadelphia vs. Miss Porter, Brookline.

In addition to this contest an eighteen hole contest against bogey was on the program for today.

THE CHIMES RANG

In Memory of Author of "America"

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee, I sing!"

Sweetly the bells of St. Anne's pealed forth the familiar strains of the good, old patriotic hymn just at noon today and everyone in Merrimack street paused on his or her way and after listening to the bells a moment went along unconsciously humming the refrain.

The church doors were closed and there was nothing to indicate the cause of the unexpected noonday musical treat.

But it took only a moment to recall the fact that one hundred years ago today the author of that immortal anthem, Rev. S. F. Smith, a Baptist minister and one of New England's most prominent clergymen of his time, was born.

The author has long since passed away, but his song will remain ever dear to the American heart and the children of the future will echo its sweet refrain long after the children of today have passed on.

FUNERALS

MORGAN—The funeral of the late George F. Morgan took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his home 370 Lincoln street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was celebrated. Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I., officiating. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Muldoon, sang the Gregorian mass and at the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered. At the conclusion the choir sang "De Profundis," Mrs. Muldoon at the organ. Among the many beautiful floral tributes were: a large pillow inscribed "Our George," from parents; wreath on base, Mr. Finnerty; wreath, Ron Marche C. and D. departments; wreath, Cornelius Sullivan; wreath, Mrs. Laurie and Mrs. Burns; John and Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Dwyer and family; the Boyle family; the Misses Muldoon, Margaret Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. Coburn, Mr. Morris, Mr. Lear and family; Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Lowmyer, Jeremiah Sullivan, Nashua, N. H.; Anna Gilbride, Welch family; Walter Coburn. The bearers were Michael Carey, Joseph Murphy, Michael Murphy, Thomas J. Finnerty.

ADMIRAL TOGO

And Children Sang Welcome to Our Fleet

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 21.—Japan's welcome to Admiral Sperry and his men surpassed in enthusiasm the celebration in honor of Admiral Togo when his fleet returned from the victory over the Russian ships in the sea of Japan. When Adm. Sperry and the division admirals went from Yokohama to Tokyo in a special train there was a continual greeting long the entire 18 miles. Each village school turned out in force, the children lining the track as the train sped by, every pupil waving two flags, an American banner and the emblem of their native land. The trip was one long procession through a lane of waving flags. At Tokyo the train was met by a committee composed of representatives of every department of the government and headed by Admiral Togo. After the exchange of formal greetings on the station platform a procession was formed, and when the band struck up "America" 10,000 children, massed in a chorus which packed the entire approach to the station, sang the words of the hymn in English. The vessel shown in this picture is the flagship Connecticut under full steam.

Many Thin Women Now Pretty and Attractive.

SOCIALLY CHARMING, TOO.

Much interest is manifested by the fair sex in anything that tends to add charm and attractiveness to the human form divine. There was recently published the formula of a famous heavy doctor who became wealthy in the profession of figure culture. Many of our famous actresses and society ladies, it is claimed, owe to her science the increase and exquisite proportion of figure which they enjoy. Many so-called patent developers have profited from results obtained by several of our famous actresses and society ladies. An increase of six inches is not unusual after a month's treatment. The treatment differs from others and can readily be prepared at home.

Go to any drugist and get separately, two ounces of glycerine, three ounces of rosewater, one ounce tincture cadomene compound, and five cents' worth of borax. Mix the glycerine and tincture cadomene, shake and let stand two hours. Then add rosewater and a teaspoonful of borax. Apply morning and night, rubbing until absorbed; then wash with hot water and soap; dry thoroughly. Continue a few weeks and beautiful development rewards the effort.
